Hunt for Rapist Near Delaware Is Suspended

Patrolmen Indicate Suspect Hiding Close to Scene

DELAWARE (AP) — Between 200 and 300 sheriff's deputies, state patrolmen and volunteers suspended a hunt over Delaware County wooded countryside early today for a man who bound and raped two women Wednesday.

The highway patrol, in announcing that the search of a large area north of here had been called off, said there were indications the hunt would be taken up again later today because of a belief the man was still in the area.

The man, described as about 35, weighing 250 pounds and more than six feet tall, is also believed to be the same man who assaulted four other women in the last seven months.

The sheriff's office here said the searchers, most of whom are armed, had been posted around an area estimated at more than 1,000 acres and along all of the roads through it.

Officials have found a truck, shoes and a billfold believed to be those of the suspect. The man was reported to be wearing a red shirt, dirty trousers and a white plastic cap. He is believed to be barefooted.

• • •

THE SEARCH started after he bound a 24-year-old housewife and her 18-year-old babysitter and raped them, deputies said.

The housewife's brother and two of his friends arrived at the woman's home to repair a car and were met by the attacker who was carrying a butcher knife. The assailant struck at one man, knocked down another and fled as the third fired a rifle at him.

Authorities said the suspect was believed to be the same man who was chased from the same house last Dec. 20. Last April 10, the suspect, who posed as a junk dealer, was believed responsible for beating a woman north of nearby Worthington, and also slashing her with a knife.

Texans Plan Big Fete for Unlucky Folk

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP) — Those couples who met recently with the proverbial fishermen's luck of wet posteriors and empty stomachs are going to live it up the weekend of June 20-22.

The Bo Englands and Maxwell Stones, whose trip to Lake Brownwood resulted in a series of misfortunes, will return as guests of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce.

That organization promised them air-conditioned cabins, use of new motor boats and fishing tackle, steak dinners, two small boys to bait hooks and four larger boys to remove fish from lines.

Their escort will be the patrolmen who stopped them for lacking a license plate. Their cars will be serviced before they leave.

On their May trip, the couples ruined a new tire and had five flats, the bumper pulled off their car, the trailer rolled into the lake, and the boat sank in 30 feet of water. The highway patrol stopped them for not having a rear license plate. It was on the bumper torn off by the trailer. Wind and rain blew down their tent and soaked their belongings and England caught pneumonia.

They caught no fish—didn't even get a bite.

Father Is Convicted In Slaying of Baby

AKRON (AP)—A father has been convicted of first degree manslaughter in the fatal beating of his five-week-old daughter.

John K. Meyers, 23, admitted that he struck his daughter, Terry Lee, with his fist shortly before she died last Jan. 12. Summit County Common Pleas Judge Ray B. Watters found Meyers guilty Wednesday of manslaughter.

Sentence was delayed while Meyers undergoes a mental examination at Lima State Hospital.

Colorado Fights Hopper Horde

White House Denies Disaster Area Status

DENVER (AP)—Colorado launched an attack against grasshopper hordes today, but Gov. Steve McNichols warned the action can be only a limited one unless large-scale federal aid is thrown into the fight.

The funds are needed, he said, to protect the $110 million wheat crop ripening on the high plains of eastern Colorado and for the hay crop needed to carry cattle through next winter.

Turned down by the White House Wednesday in an effort to have the region declared a disaster area eligible for civil defense funds, McNichols said he will appeal to the U. S. Department of Agriculture for part of $14 million available for emergencies under the agricultural conservation program.

Wilton B. Persons, deputy assistant to President Eisenhower, informed McNichols of the White House decision. Persons said Eisenhower has ordered that all assistance available through the Agriculture Department be extended to Colorado, Kansas and neighboring areas.

• • •

PERSONS SAID in telegrams to McNichols and Gov. George Docking of Kansas that a federal survey of the grasshopper threat has been completed.

McNichols announced he will ask the Colorado Legislature, when it meets Monday in embergency session, to appropriate up to $1½ million for the struggle with the hoppers. This apparently would wipe out the surplus in the state's general fund.

Paul W. Swisher, state agriculture commissioner, reported the hopper infestation now covers more than 10 million acres.

The state agriculture department announced the start of a range spraying program, with five two-engine planes flying out of Cheyenne Wells, in east-central Colorado. It said nearly 500,000 acres will be covered in this cooperative venture at a cost of about 60 cents an acre.

Ike's Trade Bill Hits Snag In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's House-passed reciprocal trade agreements program hit a snag in the Senate Republican leadership today.

In the face of a lop-sided 317-98 House vote Wednesday to continue presidential control over tariffs for five years, Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif) announced he will back a move to reduce the extension to three years. The House rejected a two-year limit.

The bill would give Eisenhower authority to reduce U.S. tariffs on imports as much as 25 per cent over the five-year period in return for similar concessions by other countries on U. S. exports.

Twelve of Ohio's 23 representatives Wednesday voted for the bill.

The only Ohio representative not present for the vote was hospitalized Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins, who was paired against the bill.

Here's how the other 22 Ohio representatives voted:

Democrats for — Ashley, Feighan, Kirwan, Polk, Vanik.

Republicans for—Ayres, Baumhart, Bolton, Dennison, Minshall, Schenck, Vorys.

Democrats against—Hays.

Republicans against — Betts, Bow, Brown, Clevenger, Henderson, Hess, McCulloch, McGregor, Scherer.

Air General Gets His Wrist Slapped

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Air Force general who announced planning dates for shooting rockets at the moon got a verbal wrist slap from his boss Wednesday.

Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas said the dates announced by Lt. Gen. S. E. Anderson "should be wholly disregarded."

Anderson, director of Air Force research and development, said at a news conference in Milwaukee Tuesday that the Air Force planned three moon shots this year, the first in August.

Dulles-DeGaulle Conference in Paris To Be 2-Way Fact-Finding Mission

WASHINGTON (AP)—A flying trip by Secretary of State Dulles to confer with Premier Charles de Gaulle in Paris next month is planned primarily as a two-way fact finding mission.

Officials said today the meeting will give Dulles an opportunity to learn at first hand De Gaulle's views on a whole range of problems from the continuing crisis in North Africa to the possible summit conference.

It also will give De Gaulle a chance to find out what kind of United States cooperation and support he can expect in carrying through his program.

The State Department said Wednesday that Dulles would fly to Paris on July 5 and be back here in time to go with President Eisenhower on a visit to Ottawa three days later.

His meeting with De Gaulle will take place against a background of worry about France's role in the western alliance under De Gaulle's leadership.

Possibly one of the most difficult problems which De Gaulle will face is that of cooperation between France and the United States in the field of atomic weapons development. France has been reported at the point of producing nuclear weapons for test purposes and De Gaulle is believed to be determined to make his country the world's fourth atomic power—along with the United States, Russia and Britain.

He may confront Dulles with a strong request for information sharing between France and the United States to the same extent that this country is able to share its atomic weapons secrets with Britain under legislation now pending in Congress.

There has been considerable opposition at the Capitol to providing France with U. S. weapons know-how, because of possible security problems and of the long record of instability in the French government.

Another problem is to work out an allied policy on suspension of nuclear tests following the present U.S. series of experimental explosions in the Pacific.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is understood to have made it clear once again during his talks with President Eisenhower this week that if Britain is to halt its own testing, it must get information already developed in U.S. tests.

Cyrus Eaton's Tart Comment Too Much for Congressman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) of the House Committee on Un-American Activities said today he walked out of a conference with Cyrus Eaton because Eaton's comparison of the United States and Hitler's Germany "was too much for my stomach."

Walter declined comment on reports that the meeting with the Cleveland financier turned into a loud fist-waving session Wednesday.

The committee chairman said Eaton sought the conference — "He thought it would be nice if we all sat down and met each other."

Walter noted that a subpoena had been issued for questioning Eaton about Eaton's assertions in a May 4 television interview that the FBI and some other federal agencies engaged in "snooping, informing and creeping up on people."

"The question of whether it will be served will be disposed of after members of the committee are informed of what took place yesterday," Walter said.

Eaton, the committee chairman said, "understands how I feel about a lot of things" as a result of the closed-door meeting.

Walter told a reporter he gathered that Eaton thought that by having the informal discussion with Walter, Rep. Gordon Scherer (R-Ohio) and Richard Arens, committee staff director, a formal appearance before the committee might be made unnecessary.

Eaton, however, denied he had sought the meeting.

"That statement by Walter is characteristic of the complete dishonesty of Walter and Arens," Eaton said. "I never sought a meeting with Scherer. A mutual friend suggested I meet him and making a courtesy call there, Walter and Arens turned up."

Eaton said he told Arens "his recent radio statement about me started with a deliberate misrepresentation and the rest of it was gross untruth and demogoguery.

"I told them they were accustomed to intimidating and bullying people around and the time had arrived when they had to stop."

"I told them," Eaton added, "if they felt they wanted me before the committee I would be only too delighted to appear. I'd come with fists flying."

Asked about what was discussed at the informal committee meeting Wednesday, Walter said Eaton told the group that in talking about "a Gestapo" he didn't mean to limit his criticism to the FBI but applied it to all government agencies. He said Eaton specifically alleged snooping by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Vatican Sends 'Thank' Note To Eaton

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland industrialist, has a letter of appreciation from the Vatican for a report on the latest Pugwash conference of nuclear scientists.

It was this same report which last week brought from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev a letter praising the "efforts of scientists of countries of the world to remove the terrible threat of nuclear war hanging over humanity."

Eaton's office, reporting receipt of the Pope's letter today, said complete records of the conference held last April at Lac Beauport, Quebec, were sent by Eaton, at the request of the participating scientists, to 15 heads of state.

The letter from Monsignor Angelo Dell 'Acqua, Vatican undersecretary of state, said the monsignor was writing at the command of Pope Pius XII.

"The Holy Father bids me say that he warmly appreciates the sentiments which prompted the presentation to him of these documents, and he directs me to convey the expression of his cordial thinkfulness to you and to Lord Russell and the other members of the continuing Pugwash Committee," the letter said.

Bertrand Russell, British philosopher and mathematician, is chairman of the committee.

First Upswing Noted In Wage Payments

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first upswing in wage payments since the recession began last August is reported by the Commerce Department.

The department said Wednesday that the nation's personal income rate increased by $1¼ billion on a yearly basis during May.

Part of the gain was attributed to an increase in federal and state payments, up $400 million.

Quick House Action Seen Aiding Rails

WASHINGTON (AP)—Quick House action is expected on legislation to authorize $700 million in government-guaranteed loans for the ailing railroads.

The Senate passed the bill by voice vote Wednesday and the House Commerce Committee was called into closed door session to tackle the measure today.

As passed by the Senate, the bill also would permit the railroads to discontinue unprofitable interstate trains unless the Interstate Commerce Commission determines the carriers are not suffering net losses.

The Senate cut out a provision that would have permitted rail, air, barge and truck carriers to set up reserve funds that would be free of income taxes for five years if the funds were invested in new equipment.

On motion of Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), the Senate eliminated authority for the ICC to permit discontinuance of trains operating wholly within a single state. In the amended form, the bill would give the ICC authority to permit discontinuance of any train that crosses from one state into another.

Under the bill, the ICC would authorize government - guaranteed loans to the railroads for acquisition of new equipment.

Plane Crashes House; 2 Fliers, Resident Die

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP)—A flaming Air Force jet training plane hurtled out of a rainstorm into an isolated farm home near here Wednesday night, killing an air instructor, his pupil and a woman resident of the house.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Cora Harman, 68; and Lt. Robert E. Irons, and Lt. Chris Paulos, both stationed at Vance Air Force Base at Enid, Okla. Irons was the instructor.

Dutch Ship's Cargo To Be Very Unusual

CLEVELAND (AP)— Along with the pay load it takes on at Riverfront Terminal today, the Fjell-Oranje Lines vessel, Prins Willem V, will load a cargo of thousands of matchbook covers and a big box of old Christmas cards.

This unusual shipment is destined for a group of Dutch children who are ill with polio or tuberculosis in a hospital at Rotterdam.

The pictures and the strange names on the matchbook covers and the Yuletide greeting cards will help fill the youngsters' long hours of confinement.

A newspaper story appealing for the matchbook covers for the Dutch children was published here two weeks ago. Pieter Wenig, a steward on the Dutch vessel, had asked L. R. Hicks, superintendent of the Riverfront Terminal of the Cleveland Stevedore Co., to gather some matchbook covers for him to take home on the return voyage. Wenig's wife works at the hospital at Rotterdam.

"I was expecting a few dozens, and now I have hundreds of thousands," Hicks said. The Ohio Match Co. of Wadsworth sent a big collection. One Clevelander contributed six matchcover albums. A Cleveland volunteer hospital worker added the huge Christmas card collection. Many Cleveland youngsters contributed covers and sent their pictures along.

Redstone Missile Passes New Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Army was a step closer to activating the nation's first ballistic missile today after the latest apparently successful launching of a Redstone rocket.

The 63-foot Redstone, the most highly developed ballistic weapon in the U. S. arsenal, roared into space Wednesday night.

The Army says the Redstone has undergone more successful tests than any other large missile. This is the rocket that the Army hopes will be deployed in the field in the very near future, possibly late next month.

Designed as a highly mobile field artillery weapon, the Redstone has a range of about 250 miles. It can be moved quickly over great distances and fired in the field in a short time.

U.N. Council Seeking Halt To 'Invasion'

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The first contingent of U. N. observers moved into Lebanon today less than 24 hours after the Security Council ordered a border watch to keep out what Lebanon calls intruders from President Nasser's United Arab Republic.

The first group of five officers (a New Zealander, two Swedes and two Italians) drove from Israel into south Lebanon and then headed for Beirut.

The officers are from the U.N. truce group in Palestine.

Reflecting the urgent view the Council took of the Lebanese situation, Secretary General Dag Hammerskjold ordered them to Lebanon immediately to serve until he can recruit a separate organization from U.N. members.

The Security Council authorized the watchdog team in answer to a Lebanese complaint that the U.A.R. is sending arms and men to rebels seeking to overthrow President Camille Chamoun's pro-Western government. The U.A.R. denied the charge.

• • •

THE COUNCIL Wednesday ordered Hammarskjold to organize an observation group and rush it into position to seal Lebanon's borders with the Syrian province of the U.A.R.

Hammarskjold turned to the U.N. truce chief in Palestine to borrow some observers temporarily. The first group of these officers who have been trying to keep peace along Israel's borders were those who arrived from Jerusalem today.

Hammarskjold worked to set up a more permanent organization of both civilian and military observers for the Lebanese assignment. He was expected to appoint a three-man directing board from Norway, India and Ecuador with a Norwegian general in charge of the assistant military observers.

You Can Get Suntan in A Pill Now

NEW YORK (AP)—A pill designed to help people suntan without burning will be available by prescription only.

Clinical trials of the newly developed tablet were discussed Wednesday at a press conference held by the Upjohn Co., Kalamazoo, Mich., pharmaceutical manufacturer.

The pill apparently helps most persons, even those with a fair complexion, to withstand burning, said Dr. Arthur C. Curtis, dermatologist at the University of Michigan Medical School.

The pill apparently works by strengthening the outer layer of skin and creates an internal filter which screens out burn-producing rays of the sun, reported Dr. Samuel Becker Jr. of the University of Illinois.

A pill-protected tan may in a few days exposure equal a whole summer's exposure to suntanning, Dr. Curtis said.

The sunburn inhibiting factor is an extract of a plant that grows along the Nile Delta and has been used by Egyptians and Arabians for centuries as a drug, the company said.

The Upjohn product, called Meloxine, may in a few cases cause stomach distress or mild nervousness, the company added.

Much Land In County Still Remains Under Flood Waters

Although rampaging waters have started to fall, a sizable amount of land surrounding the Scioto River here still is under a blanket of water.

Yesterday it was estimated that 2,000 acres of county farmland was under water caused by heavy rains over central Ohio during the last several days.

Pickaway County Agricultural Agent George Hamrick today estimated that another 750 acres were flooded during the night. Indications are that no more land will be overrun in that the river has started to fall.

Hardest hit by overflow of water was bottomland along the Scioto River. Both the Esmeralda and Winorr Canning Companies reported that about 335 acres of sweet corn land felt the force of the water.

• • •

BOTH plants are preparing to re-plant and ear in the process of ordering additional seed.

Pea crops of both canneries also may suffer from the heavy downpours. Factory officials said muddy fields have made cutting extremely difficult.

The Scioto reportedly crested here at slightly more than 15 feet.

DeGaulle Calls Algerian Leader Up on Carpet

PARIS (AP) — Premier Charles de Gaulle called Jacques Soustelle on the carpet today in another show of his determination no to let the colonists in Algeria dictate how he runs France.

Soustelle is the political front man for the insurgent movement of army officers and French settlers who banded together in committees of public safety to keep Algeria under French control.

De Gaulle wants the Moslem majority to have a full voice in running France's North African territory.

The committees inspired and directed wild demonstrations in Algeria which hoisted De Gaulle to power. But he is now trying to make them take the same vacation from politics he ordered for the National Assembly.

The premier called Soustelle back from Algiers after the military-civilian committee there demanded that De Gaulle kick party politicians out of his cabinet and delay the Algerian municipal elections he promised about a month.

• • •

DE GAULLE'S first response was a biting telegram to Gen. Raoul Salan, his civil and military chief in Algeria who had associated himself with the insurgent committee's demands. The premier told Salan to keep out of politics and criticized him for getting mixed up in "the regrettable and intemperate incident caused by the preemptory motion of the committee."

He added that the committee's only right and role was to express the opinion of its members.

Soustelle, who eluded police surveillance at his Paris home and slipped through to Algeria May 16, is generally regarded as the real mastermind behind the movement although he holds no post on any of the committees.

Senate Opens Debate on Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today opened a politically charged debate on the most comprehensive labor bill to reach it since the Taft-Hartley Act became law in 1947.

It is designed to curb some labor union abuses and also give organized labor some of the things it wants. But it was under fire from both sides.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) expressed hope the bill could be passed by Friday night.

Other senators thought it would take longer. Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Airz), one of a group of Republicans planning to offer a series of stringent amendments to the bill, said there would be "long drawn-out discussion."

An interesting sidelight to the debate was the test it posed for Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), principal author of the measure and a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.

It is the first major piece of legislation to be handled on the floor by Kennedy who conceded in advance that his bill would not satisfy the extremes on the labor issue; he said no measure could do that.

Party Lines Split House On Shakeup

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House divided along party lines decides today how much of President Eisenhower's defense reorganization plan to approve.

Republicans are seeking a compromise between (1) the reorganization bill approved by the House Armed Services Committee but sharply criticized in three particulars by Eisenhower and (2) a measure tailored closely to the President's specifications.

When the compromise was offered Wednesday, Democratic leaders made it plain they were insisting on the committee bill.

Both the GOP-backed measure and the committee bill would confer greater powers on the secretary of defense and would streamline the chain of command over combined combat forces.

But they differ on how the secretary could exercise his authority over the individual services and on the means by which Army, Navy and Air Force leaders can carry appeals to Congress.

Cyrus Eaton's Tart Comment Too Much for Congressman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) of the House Committee on Un-American Activities said today he walked out of a conference with Cyrus Eaton because Eaton's comparison of the United States and Hitler's Germany "was too much for my stomach."

Walter declined comment on reports that the meeting with the Cleveland financier turned into a loud fist-waving session Wednesday.

The committee chairman said Eaton sought the conference — "He thought it would be nice if we all sat down and met each other."

Walter noted that a subpoena had been issued for questioning Eaton about Eaton's assertions in a May 4 television interview that the FBI and some other federal agencies engaged in "snooping, informing and creeping up on people."

"The question of whether it will be served will be disposed of after members of the committee are informed of what took place yesterday," Walter said.

Eaton, the committee chairman said, "understands how I feel about a lot of things" as a result of the closed-door meeting.

Walter told a reporter he gathered that Eaton thought that by having the informal discussion with Walter, Rep. Gordon Scherer (R-Ohio) and Richard Arens, committee staff director, a formal appearance before the committee might be made unnecessary.

Eaton, however, denied he had sought the meeting.

"That statement by Walter is characteristic of the complete dishonesty of Walter and Arens," Eaton said. "I never sought a meeting with Scherer. A mutual friend suggested I meet him and making a courtesy call there, Walter and Arens turned up."

Eaton said he told Arens "his recent radio statement about me started with a deliberate misrepresentation and the rest of it was gross untruth and demogoguery.

"I told them they were accustomed to intimidating and bullying people around and the time had arrived when they had to stop."

"I told them," Eaton added, "if they felt they wanted me before the committee I would be only too delighted to appear. I'd come with fists flying."

Asked about what was discussed at the informal committee meeting Wednesday, Walter said Eaton told the group that in talking about "a Gestapo" he didn't mean to limit his criticism to the FBI but applied it to all government agencies. He said Eaton specifically alleged snooping by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Vatican Sends 'Thank' Note To Eaton

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland industrialist, has a letter of appreciation from the Vatican for a report on the latest Pugwash conference of nuclear scientists.

It was this same report which last week brought from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev a letter praising the "efforts of scientists of countries of the world to remove the terrible threat of nuclear war hanging over humanity."

Eaton's office, reporting receipt of the Pope's letter today, said complete records of the conference held last April at Lac Beauport, Quebec, were sent by Eaton, at the request of the participating scientists, to 15 heads of state.

The letter from Monsignor Angelo Dell 'Acqua, Vatican undersecretary of state, said the monsignor was writing at the command of Pope Pius XII.

"The Holy Father bids me say that he warmly appreciates the sentiments which prompted the presentation to him of these documents, and he directs me to convey the expression of his cordial thinkfulness to you and to Lord Russell and the other members of the continuing Pugwash Committee," the letter said.

Bertrand Russell, British philosopher and mathematician, is chairman of the committee.

First Upswing Noted In Wage Payments

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first upswing in wage payments since the recession began last August is reported by the Commerce Department.

The department said Wednesday that the nation's personal income rate increased by $1¼ billion on a yearly basis during May.

Part of the gain was attributed to an increase in federal and state payments, up $400 million.

Own Vote Is Fatal

CREWE, Pa. (AP) — W. L. Dixon missed election Tuesday to Town Council by one vote. He said he voted for the candidate who beat him.

Airline Is Idle, But Not Its Girls

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Forty Western Air Lines stewardesses got married during the 108-day strike that grounded the line.

The line resumed its service this week with 20 per cent fewer stewardesses than before.

Quick House Action Seen Aiding Rails

WASHINGTON (AP)—Quick House action is expected on legislation to authorize $700 million in government-guaranteed loans for the ailing railroads.

The Senate passed the bill by voice vote Wednesday and the House Commerce Committee was called into closed door session to tackle the measure today.

As passed by the Senate, the bill also would permit the railroads to discontinue unprofitable interstate trains unless the Interstate Commerce Commission determines the carriers are not suffering net losses.

The Senate cut out a provision that would have permitted rail, air, barge and truck carriers to set up reserve funds that would be free of income taxes for five years if the funds were invested in new equipment.

On motion of Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), the Senate eliminated authority for the ICC to permit discontinuance of trains operating wholly within a single state. In the amended form, the bill would give the ICC authority to permit discontinuance of any train that crosses from one state into another.

Under the bill, the ICC would authorize government - guaranteed loans to the railroads for acquisition of new equipment.

Plane Crashes House; 2 Fliers, Resident Die

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP)—A flaming Air Force jet training plane hurtled out of a rainstorm into an isolated farm home near here Wednesday night, killing an air instructor, his pupil and a woman resident of the house.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Cora Harman, 68; and Lt. Robert E. Irons, and Lt. Chris Paulos, both stationed at Vance Air Force Base at Enid, Okla. Irons was the instructor.

Dutch Ship's Cargo To Be Very Unusual

CLEVELAND (AP)— Along with the pay load it takes on at Riverfront Terminal today, the Fjell-Oranje Lines vessel, Prins Willem V, will load a cargo of thousands of matchbook covers and a big box of old Christmas cards.

This unusual shipment is destined for a group of Dutch children who are ill with polio or tuberculosis in a hospital at Rotterdam.

The pictures and the strange names on the matchbook covers and the Yuletide greeting cards will help fill the youngsters' long hours of confinement.

A newspaper story appealing for the matchbook covers for the Dutch children was published here two weeks ago. Pieter Wenig, a steward on the Dutch vessel, had asked L. R. Hicks, superintendent of the Riverfront Terminal of the Cleveland Stevedore Co., to gather some matchbook covers for him to take home on the return voyage. Wenig's wife works at the hospital at Rotterdam.

"I was expecting a few dozens, and now I have hundreds of thousands," Hicks said. The Ohio Match Co. of Wadsworth sent a big collection. One Clevelander contributed six matchcover albums. A Cleveland volunteer hospital worker added the huge Christmas card collection. Many Cleveland youngsters contributed covers and sent their pictures along.

Redstone Missile Passes New Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Army was a step closer to activating the nation's first ballistic missile today after the latest apparently successful launching of a Redstone rocket.

The 63-foot Redstone, the most highly developed ballistic weapon in the U. S. arsenal, roared into space Wednesday night.

The Army says the Redstone has undergone more successful tests than any other large missile. This is the rocket that the Army hopes will be deployed in the field in the very near future, possibly late next month.

Designed as a highly mobile field artillery weapon, the Redstone has a range of about 250 miles. It can be moved quickly over great distances and fired in the field in a short time.

U.N. Council Seeking Halt To 'Invasion'

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The first contingent of U. N. observers moved into Lebanon today less than 24 hours after the Security Council ordered a border watch to keep out what Lebanon calls intruders from President Nasser's United Arab Republic.

The first group of five officers (a New Zealander, two Swedes and two Italians) drove from Israel into south Lebanon and then headed for Beirut.

The officers are from the U.N. truce group in Palestine.

Reflecting the urgent view the Council took of the Lebanese situation, Secretary General Dag Hammerskjold ordered them to Lebanon immediately to serve until he can recruit a separate organization from U.N. members.

The Security Council authorized the watchdog team in answer to a Lebanese complaint that the U.A.R. is sending arms and men to rebels seeking to overthrow President Camille Chamoun's pro-Western government. The U.A.R. denied the charge.

• • •

THE COUNCIL Wednesday ordered Hammarskjold to organize an observation group and rush it into position to seal Lebanon's borders with the Syrian province of the U.A.R.

Hammarskjold turned to the U.N. truce chief in Palestine to borrow some observers temporarily. The first group of these officers who have been trying to keep peace along Israel's borders were those who arrived from Jerusalem today.

Hammarskjold worked to set up a more permanent organization of both civilian and military observers for the Lebanese assignment. He was expected to appoint a three-man directing board from Norway, India and Ecuador with a Norwegian general in charge of the assistant military observers.

You Can Get Suntan in A Pill Now

NEW YORK (AP)—A pill designed to help people suntan without burning will be available by prescription only.

Clinical trials of the newly developed tablet were discussed Wednesday at a press conference held by the Upjohn Co., Kalamazoo, Mich., pharmaceutical manufacturer.

The pill apparently helps most persons, even those with a fair complexion, to withstand burning, said Dr. Arthur C. Curtis, dermatologist at the University of Michigan Medical School.

The pill apparently works by strengthening the outer layer of skin and creates an internal filter which screens out burn-producing rays of the sun, reported Dr. Samuel Becker Jr. of the University of Illinois.

A pill-protected tan may in a few days exposure equal a whole summer's exposure to suntanning, Dr. Curtis said.

The sunburn inhibiting factor is an extract of a plant that grows along the Nile Delta and has been used by Egyptians and Arabians for centuries as a drug, the company said.

The Upjohn product, called Meloxine, may in a few cases cause stomach distress or mild nervousness, the company added.

DeGaulle Calls Algerian Leader Up on Carpet

PARIS (AP) — Premier Charles de Gaulle called Jacques Soustelle on the carpet today in another show of his determination no to let the colonists in Algeria dictate how he runs France.

Soustelle is the political front man for the insurgent movement of army officers and French settlers who banded together in committees of public safety to keep Algeria under French control.

De Gaulle wants the Moslem majority to have a full voice in running France's North African territory.

The committees inspired and directed wild demonstrations in Algeria which hoisted De Gaulle to power. But he is now trying to make them take the same vacation from politics he ordered for the National Assembly.

The premier called Soustelle back from Algiers after the military-civilian committee there demanded that De Gaulle kick party politicians out of his cabinet and delay the Algerian municipal elections he promised about a month.

• • •

DE GAULLE'S first response was a biting telegram to Gen. Raoul Salan, his civil and military chief in Algeria who had associated himself with the insurgent committee's demands. The premier told Salan to keep out of politics and criticized him for getting mixed up in "the regrettable and intemperate incident caused by the preemptory motion of the committee."

He added that the committee's only right and role was to express the opinion of its members.

Soustelle, who eluded police surveillance at his Paris home and slipped through to Algeria May 16, is generally regarded as the real mastermind behind the movement although he holds no post on any of the committees.

Senate Opens Debate on Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today opened a politically charged debate on the most comprehensive labor bill to reach it since the Taft-Hartley Act became law in 1947.

It is designed to curb some labor union abuses and also give organized labor some of the things it wants. But it was under fire from both sides.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) expressed hope the bill could be passed by Friday night.

Other senators thought it would take longer. Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Airz), one of a group of Republicans planning to offer a series of stringent amendments to the bill, said there would be "long drawn-out discussion."

An interesting sidelight to the debate was the test it posed for Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), principal author of the measure and a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.

It is the first major piece of legislation to be handled on the floor by Kennedy who conceded in advance that his bill would not satisfy the extremes on the labor issue; he said no measure could do that.

Party Lines Split House On Shakeup

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House divided along party lines decides today how much of President Eisenhower's defense reorganization plan to approve.

Republicans are seeking a compromise between (1) the reorganization bill approved by the House Armed Services Committee but sharply criticized in three particulars by Eisenhower and (2) a measure tailored closely to the President's specifications.

When the compromise was offered Wednesday, Democratic leaders made it plain they were insisting on the committee bill.

Both the GOP-backed measure and the committee bill would confer greater powers on the secretary of defense and would streamline the chain of command over combined combat forces.

But they differ on how the secretary could exercise his authority over the individual services and on the means by which Army, Navy and Air Force leaders can carry appeals to Congress.

Much Land In County Still Remains Under Flood Waters

Although rampaging waters have started to fall, a sizable amount of land surrounding the Scioto River here still is under a blanket of water.

Yesterday it was estimated that 2,000 acres of county farmland was under water caused by heavy rains over central Ohio during the last several days.

Pickaway County Agricultural Agent George Hamrick today estimated that another 750 acres were flooded during the night. Indications are that no more land will be overrun in that the river has started to fall.

Hardest hit by overflow of water was bottomland along the Scioto River. Both the Esmeralda and Winorr Canning Companies reported that about 335 acres of sweet corn land felt the force of the water.

• • •

BOTH plants are preparing to re-plant and ear in the process of ordering additional seed.

Pea crops of both canneries also may suffer from the heavy downpours. Factory officials said muddy fields have made cutting extremely difficult.

The Scioto reportedly crested here at slightly more than 15 feet.

Men Bound To Grand Jury

Two men were bound to the Pickaway County Grand Jury today after preliminary hearings in Circleville Municipal court. Two other men were found guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol and landed in jail.

Bound to the jury were Leo Fred Sines, 49, of 551 N. Pickaway St., who pleaded innocent to a driving while charge, and Robert Leist, 60, Franklin St., who admitted a charge of writing a $5 check with no bank account.

Found guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol were Arnold Shortridge, 25, Route 5, Portsmouth, and Ralph Tehodore Wolfe, 22, of 376 Weldon Ave. Both men were fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had their drivers' licenses suspended for six months.

Gordon D. Northcutt, 31, Cynthiana, Ky., was fined $10 and costs for running a red light.

OSU Set To Graduate 2,250 in Friday Rites

COLUMBUS (AP)— Friday is the big day for some 2,250 Ohio State University seniors and graduate students. They will receive their degrees at the university's 81st June commencement.

The ceremonies will begin at 5 p. m. and will be preceded by a half hour band concert. The program is scheduled for Ohio Stadium, but in event of rain it will be held in St. John Arena.

Bean Patch Feud Acomin', That's Sure

CLEVELAND (AP) — As the beans grow taller on the farm of Mayor Andrew H. Rosbough of Middleburg Heights, the time grows closer for the annual feud with his neighbor who charges the spray used on the beans poisons his cattle.

Police Chief Clyde E. Prentice knows there's trouble coming, but admits "I don't know what the sam hill to do about it."

In village council Monday night, Tom Galloway, 60, whose 35-acre farm is next to Rosbough's 40-acre bean field, openly threatened the mayor.

"If this man's going to kill me with poison, I'm going to kill him with lead, and I mean it," Galloway said.

Rosbough, on a brief vacation in Florida, hasn't commented yet on Galloway's complaint that the bean spray has killed three of his cows.

"This year I'm doing my fighting before the spraying starts," Galloway said. "I don't want any trouble, but I'm not going to be poisoned out. I hope he gets a good crop of beans. All I ask is that he keeps his poison on his own land."

Many Parts of Central U.S. Still Plagued by Wild Storms

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Late spring storms hammered central sections of the country again Wednesday night, the most severe in tornado-jittery Kansas.

A rash of tornadoes erupted in south Central Kansas, with heaviest damage reported in Wichita, some 35 miles from El Dorado, which was hit by a killer twister Tuesday night.

About 25 houses in northeast Wichita were damaged and an undetermined number of persons injured by the tornado. Other twisters were reported near Arkansas City, Newton and Wellington, all in the Wichita area.

Severe thunderstorms were reported during the early morning in sections of Kansas and Missouri. Tornadic winds also ripped into areas of western Nebraska and eastern Colorado.

The surging Wabash River threatened serious flooding in Indiana. At Peru, some 1,000 residents were ordered to leave their homes as water neared the top of a floodwall.

* * *

MANY STREAMS in the north central section of the state overflowed, forcing hundreds of persons from their homes, including 1,500 at Marion, and others at Wabash, Logansport, Delphi and Lafayette.

Rain hit the eastern seaboard from Maine southward to Florida, with falls of about one inch in Danville and Norfolk, Va.

More thundershowers were forecast in the central and southern plains and through the lower and middle Mississippi Valley. Fair to partly cloudy weather was the outlook in most other areas.

Match Head Rocket Fires; 3 Boys Injured

CLEVELAND (AP)—A homemade rocket—with 1,200 match heads as fuel—blew up in suburban Rocky River Wednesday. Three boys were injured.

Neighbors blocks away heard the blast and notified police. Most severely injured was Michael Johnson, 13, of Rocky River. He was taken to Lakewood Hospital with a possible skull fracture.

The other two boys are Ronald Lewis, 11, treated for burns and released, and Guy Zavodny, 9.

Police said the boys used a two-foot length of 3½-inch copper pipe for the body of the rocket. They capped one end and then filled the tube with 1,200 match heads.

They propped it up skyward on a board in a vacant lot and made some sort of fuse, but the fuse didn't work. The boys built a fire under the rocket. Then it went off.

Flurry by Oils Help Stock Mart Tone

NEW YORK (AP)—A flurry by oils helped improve the tone of a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point.

Rails backed away slightly from their solid gains of Wednesday as Wall Streeters commented that aid to the industry voted by the Senate fell short of what the carriers say they need.

Coppers also backed away from their recent advance on the administration's stockpile proposal and the higher prices for the red metal.

Both the domestic and international oils moved forward. Opinion was that the inventory situation was being adjusted. Midwest refiners have upped gasoline prices.

Steels, aircrafts, some chemicals and tobaccos did better than they did early in the session. The market opened higher but soon turned sluggish and irregular. Turnover increased as prices firmed.

Gulf Oil and Texas Co. rose a point or better.

Kennecott and Anaconda dropped fractions.

Lorillard dropped more than a point in apparent profit taking. U.S. Tobacco advanced a point or so.

Boeing was up about a point.

U.S. government bonds advanced narrowly.

Deaths AND FUNERALS

MRS. EMMA MILLER

Mrs. Emma Aaron Miller, 65, died of a cerebral hemorrhage at 2:10 p.m. yesterday in Chillicothe Hospital. She was ill about five days.

Mrs. Miller was born May 21, 1893, in Alabama, a daughter of Ira and Sarah Aaron. In 1912 she was married to Perry Miller who died in 1957.

Friends may call at the residence beginning at 2 p.m. Friday. Funeral arrangements are in charge of the Defenbaugh Funeral Home.

Davis Reelected To Director Post

Ray W. Davis, Pickaway County Prosecutor, was reelected as director of the Ohio Citizens' Council for Health and welfare at the conclusion of the organization's 46th annual meeting today in Columbus.

Davis's term will run for three years. The Council has a full-time professional staff engaged in research, consultation and education work in the fields of public assignments, child welfare, problems of the aged, mental health and rehabilitation.

Major financial support for its work is provided by the Community Chests and United Funds of more than 50 Ohio cities. More than 350 attended today's meeting.

PEOPLE-BRAINED BIRD—Mrs. John Reidy of Cincinnati has a home which is for the birds, 15 of them, to be precise, and the top-billed boarder is a talking starling named "Butch." He became a member of the Reidy feathered family a year ago, when he fell out of his nest and into the Reidy basement via a drain pipe. Raised on baby food, "Butch" now is a very talented performer. He plays dead (top right), pretends he is a hat (top left) and passes out cigarets upon command. He also likes to talk on the phone, saying such things as "'Butchie's' a pretty boy." (UPI Photos)

County Village 1957 Receipts Hit $164,744

State Auditor James A. Rhodes reports that Pickaway County's eight villages had receipts of $164,744.64 and expenditures of $139,335.20 in 1957, according to a tabulation of annual financial reports filed with him by village clerks.

Revenue of this county's villages came from the following sources: property taxes, $19,936.60; cigarette licenses, $781.37; waterworks, $37,145.03; cemeteries, $295.93; sewers, $137.15; auto licenses, $10,522.93; gasoline tax, $15,751.00; local government fund, $7,916.68; bond issues and loans, $687.06; other, $71.570.84.

Expenditures were for the following purposes: general government, $9,294.29; police and fire protection, $9,133.38; sanitation, $2,827.85; streets $30,244.89; recreation $927.96; waterworks, $29,911.66; electric plants, $517.50; sewers, $418.50; bonds and notes paid, $4,792.00; other, $51,267.07.

Because of the growing importance of village and township governments in the local government picture in Ohio, State Auditor Rhodes is planning to issue this year a report on the fiscal statistics of all villages and townships. Similar reports have been issued by the auditor's office for more than 40 years on county and city government operations, but there has been no over-all information on villages and townships.

Many requests for such data have persuaded Rhodes that such information will be helpful to legislators, bond houses, banks, research groups, students of government, local officials and the taxpayers in general.

Men Bound To Grand Jury

Two men were bound to the Pickaway County Grand Jury today after preliminary hearings in Circleville Municipal court. Two other men were found guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol and landed in jail.

Bound to the jury were Leo Fred Sines, 49, of 551 N. Pickaway St., who pleaded innocent to a driving while charge, and Robert Leist, 60, Franklin St., who admitted a charge of writing a $5 check with no bank account.

Found guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol were Arnold Shortridge, 25, Route 5, Portsmouth, and Ralph Tehodore Wolfe, 22, of 376 Weldon Ave. Both men were fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had their drivers' licenses suspended for six months.

Gordon D. Northcutt, 31, Cynthiana, Ky., was fined $10 and costs for running a red light.

OSU Set To Graduate 2,250 in Friday Rites

COLUMBUS (AP)— Friday is the big day for some 2,250 Ohio State University seniors and graduate students. They will receive their degrees at the university's 81st June commencement.

The ceremonies will begin at 5 p. m. and will be preceded by a half hour band concert. The program is scheduled for Ohio Stadium, but in event of rain it will be held in St. John Arena.

Bean Patch Feud Acomin', That's Sure

CLEVELAND (AP) — As the beans grow taller on the farm of Mayor Andrew H. Rosbough of Middleburg Heights, the time grows closer for the annual feud with his neighbor who charges the spray used on the beans poisons his cattle.

Police Chief Clyde E. Prentice knows there's trouble coming, but admits "I don't know what the sam hill to do about it."

In village council Monday night, Tom Galloway, 60, whose 35-acre farm is next to Rosbough's 40-acre bean field, openly threatened the mayor.

"If this man's going to kill me with poison, I'm going to kill him with lead, and I mean it," Galloway said.

Rosbough, on a brief vacation in Florida, hasn't commented yet on Galloway's complaint that the bean spray has killed three of his cows.

"This year I'm doing my fighting before the spraying starts," Galloway said. "I don't want any trouble, but I'm not going to be poisoned out. I hope he gets a good crop of beans. All I ask is that he keeps his poison on his own land."

Many Parts of Central U.S. Still Plagued by Wild Storms

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Late spring storms hammered central sections of the country again Wednesday night, the most severe in tornado-jittery Kansas.

A rash of tornadoes erupted in south Central Kansas, with heaviest damage reported in Wichita, some 35 miles from El Dorado, which was hit by a killer twister Tuesday night.

About 25 houses in northeast Wichita were damaged and an undetermined number of persons injured by the tornado. Other twisters were reported near Arkansas City, Newton and Wellington, all in the Wichita area.

Severe thunderstorms were reported during the early morning in sections of Kansas and Missouri. Tornadic winds also ripped into areas of western Nebraska and eastern Colorado.

The surging Wabash River threatened serious flooding in Indiana. At Peru, some 1,000 residents were ordered to leave their homes as water neared the top of a floodwall.

• • •

MANY STREAMS in the north central section of the state overflowed, forcing hundreds of persons from their homes, including 1,500 at Marion, and others at Wabash, Logansport, Delphi and Lafayette.

Rain hit the eastern seaboard from Maine southward to Florida, with falls of about one inch in Danville and Norfolk, Va.

More thundershowers were forecast in the central and southern plains and through the lower and middle Mississippi Valley. Fair to partly cloudy weather was the outlook in most other areas.

Match Head Rocket Fires; 3 Boys Injured

CLEVELAND (AP)—A homemade rocket—with 1,200 match heads as fuel—blew up in suburban Rocky River Wednesday. Three boys were injured.

Neighbors blocks away heard the blast and notified police. Most severely injured was Michael Johnson, 13, of Rocky River. He was taken to Lakewood Hospital with a possible skull fracture.

The other two boys are Ronald Lewis, 11, treated for burns and released, and Guy Zavodny, 9.

Police said the boys used a two-foot length of 3½-inch copper pipe for the body of the rocket. They capped one end and then filled the tube with 1,200 match heads.

They propped it up skyward on a board in a vacant lot and made some sort of fuse, but the fuse didn't work. The boys built a fire under the rocket. Then it went off.

Flurry by Oils Help Stock Mart Tone

NEW YORK (AP)—A flurry by oils helped improve the tone of a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point.

Rails backed away slightly from their solid gains of Wednesday as Wall Streeters commented that aid to the industry voted by the Senate fell short of what the carriers say they need.

Coppers also backed away from their recent advance on the administration's stockpile proposal and the higher prices for the red metal.

Both the domestic and international oils moved forward. Opinion was that the inventory situation was being adjusted. Midwest refiners have upped gasoline prices.

Steels, aircrafts, some chemicals and tobaccos did better than they did early in the session. The market opened higher but soon turned sluggish and irregular. Turnover increased as prices firmed.

Gulf Oil and Texas Co. rose a point or better.

Kennecott and Anaconda dropped fractions.

Lorillard dropped more than a point in apparent profit taking. U.S. Tobacco advanced a point or so.

Boeing was up about a point.

U.S. government bonds advanced narrowly.

County Village 1957 Receipts Hit $164,744

State Auditor James A. Rhodes reports that Pickaway County's eight villages had receipts of $164,744.64 and expenditures of $139,335.20 in 1957, according to a tabulation of annual financial reports filed with him by village clerks.

Revenue of this county's villages came from the following sources: property taxes, $19,936.60; cigarette licenses, $781.37; waterworks, $37,145.03; cemeteries, $295.93; sewers, $137.15; auto licenses, $10,522.93; gasoline tax, $15,751.00; local government fund, $7,916.68; bond issues and loans, $687.06; other, $71.570.84.

Expenditures were for the following purposes: general government, $9,294.29; police and fire protection, $9,133.38; sanitation, $2,827.85; streets $30,244.89; recreation $927.96; waterworks, $29,911.66; electric plants, $517.50; sewers, $418.50; bonds and notes paid, $4,792.00; other, $51,267.07.

Because of the growing importance of village and township governments in the local government picture in Ohio, State Auditor Rhodes is planning to issue this year a report on the fiscal statistics of all villages and townships. Similar reports have been issued by the auditor's office for more than 40 years on county and city government operations, but there has been no over-all information on villages and townships.

Many requests for such data have persuaded Rhodes that such information will be helpful to legislators, bond houses, banks, research groups, students of government, local officials and the taxpayers in general.

Father Will Have His Day

Every dog has his day, they say, and it's nice to know that as much can be said of father. Sunday is Father's Day. They've set it aside for him officially, to have and to hold as his very own.

Now, that's mighty fine of 'em. So many days in the year are father's days— his, that is, to face as best he can. Take March 15, for instance. Nobody else is going to wrestle with that one.

Take Christmas. That's his day to play Santa Claus and carve the turkey. Take New Year. That's his day to make good resolutions if he can get around to it. And he'd better get around to it before mother makes 'em for him.

But Father's Day is not like that. Other days may boss him around but on this one father can do precisely as he pleases — within reasonable limits, of course. After all, it is Sunday and summertime, too, so a fellow cannot expect to crawl into his easy chair and pull his pipe and slippers in after him.

There are still lawns to cut, hedges to trim, that hole in the back fence to fix and somebody ought to wash the car.

"And hey, pop, mom says to tell you she's expecting you to shave and get a bath before lunch. So you'd better get the yard table out of the garage and put up the chairs and stuff right now, she says. The Smith and the Joneses are coming over later and we're all going to have a Father's Day picnic in the back yard especially in honor of you."

Jinx or Good Luck?

This Friday, the thirteenth, is the first such day of 1958— and this preamble having been concocted, it is possible to get down to the main thesis of this piece, to wit: That Friday the thirteenth, widely regarded by the superstitious as an illomened day and date, need not be necessarily so.

It depends on the viewpoint. To those who continue to be influenced by thought processes of a past that was populated largely by black cats, anything that could happen on Friday the thirteenth would be regarded as unfortunate.

Should they receive a telephone call from a radio program director informing them that if they knew the answer as to what day of the week it was a freight trainload of aids to modern living, ranging from a jet-powered automobile to a new sidewalk which automatically tosses banana skins to one side, would be consigned to them — followed by an all expenses paid trip to New York to appear on a new television program advertising Bruin Hair Oil — it would appear to them instantly that Santa had failed to mention that provision had been made to pay income taxes on the heap.

But those who have cast superstitution aside would—after glancing furtively at the calendar — reply that it was Friday, craftily remembering that the politicians had shifted all taxes to the rich which, as all but the superstitious know, removed the curse from acceptance of such windfalls.

Writer Considers Self God

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Novelist Evan Hunter, a young man with a gift for controversy, is winning fame and fortune by playing God.

"You have to do that when you are at the typewriter," he said.

"You can have your own insecurities and doubts when you're not writing. But when you're in that room with just yourself, the machine and the paper — you have to play God. You have to feel in control, and you have to believe people want to hear what you have to say. If you begin to doubt this, you can't write."

Few doubts seem to have assailed Hunter. At 31, prolific beyond his years, he has produced 175 stories, some 30 novels and three plays, written under his own name and at least four pseudonyms. Total output has been more than three million words.

"I'm not really happy unless I am writing," said Hunter, who is dark-haired, blue-eyed, and stands a slender 6 feet. "I feel guilty."

Evan, a former schoolteacher, is equally adept at writing science fiction, mysteries, sport stories and children's books. But his main recognition has come from problem novels.

In 1954 he stirred up a literary storm with "The Blackboard Jungle," an 80,000-word portrayal of teen-age savagery in the schoolroom. He turned out the book in exactly two months. It has sold more than two million copies.

"I sold the movie rights for only $35,000," he said ruefully, "and the picture earned more than $8 million."

Hollywood paid $150,000 for his latest book, "Strangers When We Meet." This novel, which blasts the lid off "the coffin of suburbia," already has gone into a second printing, and has drawn both huzzahs and brickbats from commuters.

Hunter sturdily defends his attack against the conformity which he feels blights the lives of thousands of American families living in new suburban housing developments.

Hunter himself has escaped that "60-by-100-foot green coffin" he complains about. He lives with his wife and three sons in a 10-room house on a four-acre estate beyond the suburbs.

There he methodically turns out 5,000 words or so daily, and never waits for inspiration.

"I don't believe there is any such thing," he said. "Inspiration is a kind of myth promoted by pseudo-artists who live in Greenwich Village. If writing is your profession, you sit down and write whether you are inspired or not."

Boy Meets Girl Problem

By George Sokolsky

Any American university faces the problem that when boy meets girl things can happen. There are always adults, particularly parents and deans, who would thwart the biologic process, which is as difficult as abolishing June. Deans are especially bothered by it because when things go wrong, like a girl committing suicide or running off with an ex-burglar who is a bartender, the situation becomes very messy.

It used to be that the Trustees had much to say about the running of universities but those days are over in the United States and well they might be. Trustees could perform a very useful service, but since professors gained the right of tenure, the Trustees can do little about either teachers or students. Besides, the Trustees are usually frightened by the publicity that professors are able to generate when annoyed.

There are still a few scholar-presidents and they are respected. Too many university pesidents are administrators who would do as well running a department store or a manufacturing plant. Few of them are inspiring human beings and the students rarely see them except on formal occasions which is not good enough.

In fact, in the freshman class at any college, when students should have the most intimate contact with the most mature personalities in a university, they generally meet instructors who are themselves only graduate students working for Ph.D.'s or the less successful among the faculty. It is a wrong concept of education.

What happened at Cornell brings all this to the fore and while it is not as earthshaking as de Gaulle, it is infinitely more important to all parents who have children at school and to the United States which is quite short of really trained intelligences and is still forced to import many of its best minds from Europe.

Therefore the Cornell episode needs to be studied from every angle, for these were American boys and girls who threw eggs at the president of the university and at a dean and who did it over the particular issue of sex.

This has been described to me by a student whose letter is in criticism of an earlier account by me on the subject. He says that the fight really started because Miss Theresa Humphreyville, a professor of home economics and chairman "of the President's powerful Committee on Student Activities," told the Student Council that (private) apartments were conducive to petting, etc., and that something had to be done.

Of course, when boy meets girl alone in a private apartment, unsupervised, things could happen. They did happen when we were young and most professors and administrators of colleges once were young too, as improbable as it may appear to the youngsters of today.

Young folks tell me that they like to go to college away from home, because by the time they reach calculus, they are through with parental supervision. However, there is too much illegitimacy these days and every scandal causes enormous grief. Well, if worse comes to worse, you can get married, say the young ones. When marriage becomes the final sacrifice for young people, it is indeed a sad world. My correspondent from Cornell writes me:

". . .Under present rules the thousand and more undergraduate men living in apartments can hold unchaperoned parties for sophomore, junior, and senior women provided that at least two couples are present; if such parties were banned, these men would either have to violate regulations, or resign their social life entirely.

"It was the fear of this imminent apartment party ban that triggered the May 23 demonstrations."

I find myself sadly unfrightened by the ban of girls hanging around boys' apartments, even if it is a foursome because somehow it strikes me that if boy and girl wish to live according to the mores of our civilization, they do not need clandestine means to meet, but if they wish to cheat, they can find means even under the moon and the stars.

Young people can have a social life within or without the proprieties, depending upon character and upbringing. There was no need for hitting the president with eggs over something they should have learned in English I if in no other subject.

But what the country needs is a moral basis for life and it is a university's obligation to hand down the moral traditions of our civilization to each succeeding generation. If a university does not have that purpose, what good is it?

Youngest War I GI Dies in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — William A. Litchfield who at 14 may have been the youngest Doughboy in World War I, died Wednesday at the age of 56.

Big for his age, he fibbed to the Army recruiting sergeant, and it wasn't until after he spent his 15th birthday in Germany that the War Department discovered his true age. Litchfield stayed in the Army four years, then put in four years in the Navy.

At Port Columbus (Ohio) on July 8, 1929, Mary Pickford and prominent officials inaugurated the first air-rail service in the world. Passengers could secuue accommodations for night travel on the Penn. Railroad whose trains passed near by the airport.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ASKED TO SINGLE OUT two of the kids who created the biggest unscheduled laughs on his "People Are Funny" TV shows recently, Art Linkletter nominated:

1. The innocent (?) who babbled, "My father worked at a vegetable market when he was young and single, and my mother-to-be used to come in and pinch the vegetables. Every time she pinched a vegetable, my father pinched her, until she couldn't stand it any longer, so they got married."

2. The little girl who complained of a sore mouth. "I ran into a hot marshmallow," she explained, adding, when she was pressed for details, "You see, I was eating one part and didn't notice the other part was on fire."

* * *

Texas mother to her two young toddlers: "I want you to be specially careful going to school this morning, children; I'm afraid we had another oil strike last night and it's very, very slippery out."

Adjust Lights for TV Ease

By Herman N. Bundesen, M. D.

Under the proper conditions, there is much lesseye focus strain involved in viewing television than there is much less eye focus strain work as sewing or reading. Inadequate room lighting or improper adjustment of the TV picture, however, might cause a good deal of eye strain.

Keep your set in good condition so you can receive steady, clear pictures. Watch only the stations which come in strong in your particular area. Flickering or grainy images can quickly tire your eyes.

Always adjust the contrast and brightness dials after the room lights have been turned on. The picture should be adapted to the lighting in the room. Don't adjust the room lighting to the brightness of the TV tube.

Your eyes, remember, can become more tired watching TV than viewing a movie in a theater. The reason for this is simple. In a motion picture theater, your eyes are moving constantly, but in watching television at home, your eyes converge steadily for long periods of time.

So don't try to see the entire screen equally well, and don't try to hold any detail. It's best to keep your eyes and attention constantly on the move.

Every half hour or so, get up and take a walk to the kitchen to rest your eyes. Even while watching a program take the opportunity of boring sequences—or commercials—to close your eyes for a minute or two.

Don't use sunglasses while viewing TV. They shut out too much light for clear vision. If you wear sunglasses when they aren't needed, it might be difficult for your eyes to become adjusted to normal light again.

Some persons require special glasses to correct their vision for their usual televiewing distance.

In some instances, those of you who wear bifocals will find that for the distance at which you geneither prescription is focused erally watch TV. Others, who require glasses only for reading or other close-up tasks, also will find their prescriptions not correct for televiewing. Obviously, you need specific prescriptions for your TV viewing.

Whether you wear glasses or not, if you suffer visual discomfort, or if your eyes water after watching TV for an average length of time, better see an eye specialist.

Question and Answer

Y. B.: Do lungs do anything besides provide oxygen for the body?

Answer: The lungs have many functions besides the providing of oxygen.

The lungs help regulate the body heat by warming the air that is breathed in and out, and thus eliminate excessive heat from the body. An excessive amount of water in the tissues is many times excreted by the lungs in the form of moisture. The movement of the lungs also promotes circulation.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The impression left by President Eisenhower's three-day talk with British Prime Minister Macmillan was that of two old friends nodding "yes, sir" to each other on everything.

They showed no sign of disagreement. At the same time they didn't appear to have solved anything, either. But the meeting hadn't been billed as a world-shaker in the first place.

But it was one of those things in which, behind the privacy of the White House walls, one man may have been a real influence on the other. In this case Macmillan perhaps influenced Eisenhower's thinking on Red China.

That might explain the standing way in which Secretary of State Dulles suddenly said Red China should be included in any arrangement to police a ban on nuclear testing to prevent cheating.

Almost a year ago the prime ministers of 10 British Commonwealth nations, meeting in London, urged that Red China, as a potential nuclear power, be asked to join in any disarmament agreement or any agreement on ending nuclear tests.

But this government not only refuses to recognize the Red Chinese as the government of mainland China but opposes membership of them in the United Nations.

This is like having cake and eating it, since, no matter what it's called, the present armistice in Korea is the result of agreement with Red China.

This non-recognition of Red China lies behind Eisenhower's omission—in his correspondence with Russian Premier Khrushchev about ending nuclear tests—of any mention of Red China as an interested party.

What Eisenhower and Khrushchev have agreed on is this: that American and Russian scientists —with the British, French, Poles and Czechoslovaks sitting in— should meet to seek some accord on how a nuclear testing ban could be policed.

Macmillan began his talks with Eisenhower and Dulles Monday. Later that day the White House said the President's latest letter to Khrushchev would be made public Tuesday morning. It made no mention of Red China.

But within about an hour Dulles was telling his news conference that to make a ban on nuclear testing effective inspection posts would have to be set up in Red China.

So, while that had been the British position for a year, it didn't become the American position until Macmillan visited the White House. Wednesday Macmillan said Red China should be included in any agreement on banning nuclear tests.

Before Red China agreed to inspection posts inside her borders, she might insist on admittance to the U. N. That would require American recognition of the Red regime as legitimate.

So the Dulles-Macmillan statements on Red China may be the opening of the first door to letting her into the U. N. and giving her the international recognition she wants.

If this turns out to be a result of Macmillan's visit to Washington it will, in the long run, prove to have been very far-reaching although at the moment it may seem hardly more than a minor episode.

Jinx or Good Luck?

This Friday, the thirteenth, is the first such day of 1958— and this preamble having been concocted, it is possible to get down to the main thesis of this piece, to wit: That Friday the thirteenth, widely regarded by the superstitious as an illomened day and date, need not be necessarily so.

It depends on the viewpoint. To those who continue to be influenced by thought processes of a past that was populated largely by black cats, anything that could happen on Friday the thirteenth would be regarded as unfortunate.

Should they receive a telephone call from a radio program director informing them that if they knew the answer as to what day of the week it was a freight trainload of aids to modern living, ranging from a jet-powered automobile to a new sidewalk which automatically tosses banana skins to one side, would be consigned to them — followed by an all expenses paid trip to New York to appear on a new television program advertising Bruin Hair Oil — it would appear to them instantly that Santa had failed to mention that provision had been made to pay income taxes on the heap.

But those who have cast superstitution aside would—after glancing furtively at the calendar — reply that it was Friday, craftily remembering that the politicians had shifted all taxes to the rich which, as all but the superstitious know, removed the curse from acceptance of such windfalls.

Writer Considers Self God

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Novelist Evan Hunter, a young man with a gift for controversy, is winning fame and fortune by playing God.

"You have to do that when you are at the typewriter," he said.

"You can have your own insecurities and doubts when you're not writing. But when you're in that room with just yourself, the machine and the paper — you have to play God. You have to feel in control, and you have to believe people want to hear what you have to say. If you begin to doubt this, you can't write."

Few doubts seem to have assailed Hunter. At 31, prolific beyond his years, he has produced 175 stories, some 30 novels and three plays, written under his own name and at least four pseudonyms. Total output has been more than three million words.

"I'm not really happy unless I am writing," said Hunter, who is dark-haired, blue-eyed, and stands a slender 6 feet. "I feel guilty."

Evan, a former schoolteacher, is equally adept at writing science fiction, mysteries, sport stories and children's books. But his main recognition has come from problem novels.

In 1954 he stirred up a literary storm with "The Blackboard Jungle," an 80,000-word portrayal of teen-age savagery in the schoolroom. He turned out the book in exactly two months. It has sold more than two million copies.

"I sold the movie rights for only $35,000," he said ruefully, "and the picture earned more than $8 million."

Hollywood paid $150,000 for his latest book, "Strangers When We Meet." This novel, which blasts the lid off "the coffin of suburbia," already has gone into a second printing, and has drawn both huzzahs and brickbats from commuters.

Hunter sturdily defends his attack against the conformity which he feels blights the lives of thousands of American families living in new suburban housing developments.

Hunter himself has escaped that "60-by-100-foot green coffin" he complains about. He lives with his wife and three sons in a 10-room house on a four-acre estate beyond the suburbs.

There he methodically turns out 5,000 words or so daily, and never waits for inspiration.

"I don't believe there is any such thing," he said. "Inspiration is a kind of myth promoted by pseudo-artists who live in Greenwich Village. If writing is your profession, you sit down and write whether you are inspired or not."

Boy Meets Girl Problem

By George Sokolsky

Any American university faces the problem that when boy meets girl things can happen. There are always adults, particularly parents and deans, who would thwart the biologic process, which is as difficult as abolishing June. Deans are especially bothered by it because when things go wrong, like a girl committing suicide or running off with an ex-burglar who is a bartender, the situation becomes very messy.

It used to be that the Trustees had much to say about the running of universities but those days are over in the United States and well they might be. Trustees could perform a very useful service, but since professors gained the right of tenure, the Trustees can do little about either teachers or students. Besides, the Trustees are usually frightened by the publicity that professors are able to generate when annoyed.

There are still a few scholar-presidents and they are respected. Too many university pesidents are administrators who would do as well running a department store or a manufacturing plant. Few of them are inspiring human beings and the students rarely see them except on formal occasions which is not good enough.

In fact, in the freshman class at any college, when students should have the most intimate contact with the most mature personalities in a university, they generally meet instructors who are themselves only graduate students working for Ph.D.'s or the less successful among the faculty. It is a wrong concept of education.

What happened at Cornell brings all this to the fore and while it is not as earthshaking as de Gaulle, it is infinitely more important to all parents who have children at school and to the United States which is quite short of really trained intelligences and is still forced to import many of its best minds from Europe.

Therefore the Cornell episode needs to be studied from every angle, for these were American boys and girls who threw eggs at the president of the university and at a dean and who did it over the particular issue of sex.

This has been described to me by a student whose letter is in criticism of an earlier account by me on the subject. He says that the fight really started because Miss Theresa Humphreyville, a professor of home economics and chairman "of the President's powerful Committee on Student Activities," told the Student Council that (private) apartments were conducive to petting, etc., and that something had to be done.

Of course, when boy meets girl alone in a private apartment, unsupervised, things could happen. They did happen when we were young and most professors and administrators of colleges once were young too, as improbable as it may appear to the youngsters of today.

Young folks tell me that they like to go to college away from home, because by the time they reach calculus, they are through with parental supervision. However, there is too much illegitimacy these days and every scandal causes enormous grief. Well, if worse comes to worse, you can get married, say the young ones. When marriage becomes the final sacrifice for young people, it is indeed a sad world. My correspondent from Cornell writes me:

"...Under present rules the thousand and more undergraduate men living in apartments can hold unchaperoned parties for sophomore, junior, and senior women provided that at least two couples are present; if such parties were banned, these men would either have to violate regulations, or resign their social life entirely.

"It was the fear of this imminent apartment party ban that triggered the May 23 demonstrations."

I find myself sadly unfrightened by the ban of girls hanging around boys' apartments, even if it is a foursome because somehow it strikes me that if boy and girl wish to live according to the mores of our civilization, they do not need clandestine means to meet, but if they wish to cheat, they can find means even under the moon and the stars.

Young people can have a social life within or without the proprieties, depending upon character and upbringing. There was no need for hitting the president with eggs over something they should have learned in English I if in no other subject.

But what the country needs is a moral basis for life and it is a university's obligation to hand down the moral traditions of our civilization to each succeeding generation. If a university does not have that purpose, what good is it?

Youngest War I GI Dies in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — William A. Litchfield who at 14 may have been the youngest Doughboy in World War I, died Wednesday at the age of 56.

Big for his age, he fibbed to the Army recruiting sergeant, and it wasn't until after he spent his 15th birthday in Germany that the War Department discovered his true age. Litchfield stayed in the Army four years, then put in four years in the Navy.

At Port Columbus (Ohio) on July 8, 1929, Mary Pickford and prominent officials inaugurated the first air-rail service in the world. Passengers could secuue accommodations for night travel on the Penn. Railroad whose trains passed near by the airport.

Adjust Lights for TV Ease

By Herman N. Bundesen, M. D.

Under the proper conditions, there is much lesseye focus strain involved in viewing television than there is much less eye focus strain work as sewing or reading. Inadequate room lighting or improper adjustment of the TV picture, however, might cause a good deal of eye strain.

Keep your set in good condition so you can receive steady, clear pictures. Watch only the stations which come in strong in your particular area. Flickering or grainy images can quickly tire your eyes.

Always adjust the contrast and brightness dials after the room lights have been turned on. The picture should be adapted to the lighting in the room. Don't adjust the room lighting to the brightness of the TV tube.

Your eyes, remember, can become more tired watching TV than viewing a movie in a theater. The reason for this is simple. In a motion picture theater, your eyes are moving constantly, but in watching television at home, your eyes converge steadily for long periods of time.

So don't try to see the entire screen equally well, and don't try to hold any detail. It's best to keep your eyes and attention constantly on the move.

Every half hour or so, get up and take a walk to the kitchen to rest your eyes. Even while watching a program take the opportunity of boring sequences—or commercials—to close your eyes for a minute or two.

Don't use sunglasses while viewing TV. They shut out too much light for clear vision. If you wear sunglasses when they aren't needed, it might be difficult for your eyes to become adjusted to normal light again.

Some persons require special glasses to correct their vision for their usual televiewing distance.

In some instances, those of you who wear bifocals will find that for the distance at which you gen- neither prescription is focused erally watch TV. Others, who require glasses only for reading or other close-up tasks, also will find their prescriptions not correct for televiewing. Obviously, you need specific prescriptions for your TV viewing.

Whether you wear glasses or not, if you suffer visual discomfort, or if your eyes water after watching TV for an average length of time, better see an eye specialist.

Question and Answer

Y. B.: Do lungs do anything besides provide oxygen for the body?

Answer: The lungs have many functions besides the providing of oxygen.

The lungs help regulate the body heat by warming the air that is breathed in and out, and thus eliminate excessive heat from the body. An excessive amount of water in the tissues is many times excreted by the lungs in the form of moisture. The movement of the lungs also promotes circulation.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The impression left by President Eisenhower's three-day talk with British Prime Minister Macmillan was that of two old friends nodding "yes, sir" to each other on everything.

They showed no sign of disagreement. At the same time they didn't appear to have solved anything, either. But the meeting hadn't been billed as a world-shaker in the first place.

But it was one of those things in which, behind the privacy of the White House walls, one man may have been a real influence on the other. In this case Macmillan perhaps influenced Eisenhower's thinking on Red China.

That might explain the standing way in which Secretary of State Dulles suddenly said Red China should be included in any arrangement to police a ban on nuclear testing to prevent cheating.

Almost a year ago the prime ministers of 10 British Commonwealth nations, meeting in London, urged that Red China, as a potential nuclear power, be asked to join in any disarmament agreement or any agreement on ending nuclear tests.

But this government not only refuses to recognize the Red Chinese as the government of mainland China but opposes membership of them in the United Nations.

This is like having cake and eating it, since, no matter what it's called, the present armistice in Korea is the result of agreement with Red China.

This non-recognition of Red China lies behind Eisenhower's omission—in his correspondence with Russian Premier Khrushchev about ending nuclear tests—of any mention of Red China as an interested party.

What Eisenhower and Khrushchev have agreed on is this: that American and Russian scientists —with the British, French, Poles and Czechoslovaks sitting in— should meet to seek some accord on how a nuclear testing ban could be policed.

Macmillan began his talks with Eisenhower and Dulles Monday. Later that day the White House said the President's latest letter to Khrushchev would be made public Tuesday morning. It made no mention of Red China.

But within about an hour Dulles was telling his news conference that to make a ban on nuclear testing effective inspection posts would have to be set up in Red China.

So, while that had been the British position for a year, it didn't become the American position until Macmillan visited the White House. Wednesday Macmillan said Red China should be included in any agreement on banning nuclear tests.

Before Red China agreed to inspection posts inside her borders, she might insist on admittance to the U. N. That would require American recognition of the Red regime as legitimate.

So the Dulles-Macmillan statements on Red China may be the opening of the first door to letting her into the U. N. and giving her the international recognition she wants.

If this turns out to be a result of Macmillan's visit to Washington it will, in the long run, prove to have been very far-reaching although at the moment it may seem hardly more than a minor episode.

Federal Finance Crew Elated over Ability To 'Stretch' Debt

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Treasury's elation over its success this week in stretching out the maturity of the federal debt isn't shared today by all in the financial community.

And the policy is being watched closely by corporate treasurers, school boards and city fathers who may be wanting to tap the investment market for funds. Already they've sold a record - breaking volume of new securities this year. And now Uncle Sam is becoming a bigger competitor in this market.

The Treasury's aim, however, wins the praise of many on the sidelines for its long term good effects on the money market — that conglomerate thing that can determine how much interest you'll have to pay if you want to buy on time or get a mortgage, and even can determine whether there'll be money available if your community wants to build a new school or your firm wants to borrow to build a new plant.

The Treasury holds that it isn't upsetting the investment market nor mopping up investment money pools for long.

What the Treasury wants to do—and what it succeeded in doing this week—is to get more of the federal debt into long term bonds so that it won't have to be going into the money market every little while to refund short term issues as they come due.

This week the Treasury sold 1 billion dollars in 27-year bonds for cash and refunded some 7¼ billion of maturing issues into new 6 years 8 months bonds. This allowed the Treasury to stretch out the average maturity of the federal debt to 63 months. Last week the average was 58 months.

The Treasury isn't out of the financial woods by any means. The Treasury secretary's fiscal problems go on and on. Before the end of the year he is expected to seek eight billion dollars more in cash to meet the deficit that will mount fast in the second half of the year.

In trips to the money market, the Treasury likely will take care not to dry up the reservoir of investment money and thus upset the borrowing plans of states and communities and of corporations.

Also it will have to walk a tight rope lest it upset another administration aim—to bring down long term interest rates as a counter to the recession.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a widow, 57; and suddenly I find myself at the end of an era, wondering what to do next. I own the house in which I live, have a few thousands in the bank and a monthly income of $300.

My older son is established in another city, and quite happy there as a bachelor. My younger son graduates from college next month and takes a job in a city far from here. I think young people should be allowed to lead their own lives, without mother tagging along—so I am on my own.

But I don't like this town. The smug provincial attitude of the natives, the high taxes, the arbitrary edicts of the city council, the lack of places to go and things to do (unless you belong to the country club set); the inadequate bus service—I object to all this; and much more.

My husband's job was such that we moved frequently, so I made no lasting friends en route and have none to turn to for companionship. We came here a few years ago, when he retired due to ill health. He was an invalid, and I took care of him to the end — so I made no friends here either.

Should a woman my age simply give up and say her life is over? That there is nothing new she can find or learn to do? I know that if you were in my shoes, you would have some interesting plans.

L.V.

DEAR L.V.: All you say—about having no real friends here or elsewhere — suggests that you haven't much feeling for people, aside from your very own family, perhaps.

It is axiomatic that we make our experiences, in the main, wherever we go; and our experiences are coined in our own image, usually. Things happen to us in terms of how we tackle life. So it isn't likely that you will change the flavor of your experience simply by moving for the sake of change.

Since you own your home, and have basic income and a backlog in the bank, you have a margin of security, for doing as you please. In your shoes, I don't think I'd disturb this foundation-for-contentment. Rather, I'd use it as a base of operations, for exploring the potentials of new life around me.

Now for suggestions: Find a job, full or parttime, in order to save money, with which to buy a car. Learn to drive the car, thus solving your local transportation problem. For fun, and to refresh your morale, you might make it a foreign car—a small, low-priced model, economical to run.

Tie-in with the community, on the basis of group-belonging. Join a church, and enlist in church activities. Do some tactful research amongst your neighbors, as to joining one or two women's clubs that afford a ready-made social program — of luncheons, teas, study courses.

In other words, take root where you are, and grow into more life.

Jaywalking Helps Trap Accused Thug

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Joseph Shepard, 46, of Cincinnati, today might have been spending some of the more than $1,000 police say he is believed to have robbed from a loan company, but he is in Dayton City Jail because he jaywalked during his escape.

Patrolman F. J. Arnold, unaware of a robbery Tuesday at the United Finance Co. about three blocks from his traffic post, started to write Shepard a ticket for jaywalking when things started happening.

Shepard started to leave so Arnold said he grabbed him around the waist and felt a gun tucked in Sheppard's belt. The patrolman said when he started to reach for the gun, Shepard broke free.

After a short chase, Arnold again grabbed Shepard and, in the tussle, money started falling out of Shepard's pockets.

About that time two more patrolmen arrived and told Arnold that Shepard was believed to be the man who robbed the loan office.

The Cincinnatian was held for investigation of armed robbery.

This week the Treasury sold 1 billion dollars in 27-year bonds for cash and refunded some 7¼ billion of maturing issues into new 6 years 8 months bonds. This allowed the Treasury to stretch out the average maturity of the federal debt to 63 months. Last week the average was 58 months.

The Treasury isn't out of the financial woods by any means. The Treasury secretary's fiscal problems go on and on. Before the end of the year he is expected to seek eight billion dollars more in cash to meet the deficit that will mount fast in the second half of the year.

In trips to the money market, the Treasury likely will take care not to dry up the reservoir of investment money and thus upset the borrowing plans of states and communities and of corporations.

Also it will have to walk a tight rope lest it upset another administration aim—to bring down long term interest rates as a counter to the recession.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a widow, 57; and suddenly I find myself at the end of an era, wondering what to do next. I own the house in which I live, have a few thousands in the bank and a monthly income of $300.

My older son is established in another city, and quite happy there as a bachelor. My younger son graduates from college next month and takes a job in a city far from here. I think young people should be allowed to lead their own lives, without mother tagging along—so I am on my own.

But I don't like this town. The smug provincial attitude of the natives, the high taxes, the arbitrary edicts of the city council, the lack of places to go and things to do (unless you belong to the country club set); the inadequate bus service—I object to all this; and much more.

My husband's job was such that we moved frequently, so I made no lasting friends en route and have none to turn to for companionship. We came here a few years ago, when he retired due to ill health. He was an invalid, and I took care of him to the end — so I made no friends here either.

Should a woman my age simply give up and say her life is over? That there is nothing new she can find or learn to do? I know that if you were in my shoes, you would have some interesting plans.

L.V.

DEAR L.V.: All you say—about having no real friends here or elsewhere — suggests that you haven't much feeling for people, aside from your very own family, perhaps.

It is axiomatic that we make our experiences, in the main, wherever we go; and our experiences are coined in our own image, usually. Things happen to us in terms of how we tackle life. So it isn't likely that you will change the flavor of your experience simply by moving for the sake of change.

Since you own your home, and have basic income and a backlog in the bank, you have a margin of security, for doing as you please. In your shoes, I don't think I'd disturb this foundation-for-contentment. Rather, I'd use it as a base of operations, for exploring the potentials of new life around me.

Now for suggestions: Find a job, full or parttime, in order to save money, with which to buy a car. Learn to drive the car, thus solving your local transportation problem. For fun, and to refresh your morale, you might make it a foreign car—a small, low-priced model, economical to run.

Tie-in with the community, on the basis of group-belonging. Join a church, and enlist in church activities. Do some tactful research amongst your neighbors, as to joining one or two women's clubs that afford a ready-made social program — of luncheons, teas, study courses.

In other words, take root where you are, and grow into more life.

M.H.

Jaywalking Helps Trap Accused Thug

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Joseph Shepard, 46, of Cincinnati, today might have been spending some of the more than $1,000 police say he is believed to have robbed from a loan company, but he is in Dayton City Jail because he jaywalked during his escape.

Patrolman F. J. Arnold, unaware of a robbery Tuesday at the United Finance Co. about three blocks from his traffic post, started to write Shepard a ticket for jaywalking when things started happening.

Shepard started to leave so Arnold said he grabbed him around the waist and felt a gun tucked in Sheppard's belt. The patrolman said when he started to reach for the gun, Shepard broke free.

After a short chase, Arnold again grabbed Shepard and, in the tussle, money started falling out of Shepard's pockets.

About that time two more patrolmen arrived and told Arnold that Shepard was believed to be the man who robbed the loan office.

The Cincinnatian was held for investigation of armed robbery.

Judge Flips Coin To Reach Decision

DAYTON (AP) — Victor Hudson taken before Municipal Judge Carl D. Kessler for drunkenness, faced sentencing until the judge discovered the records in Hudson's case were not available.

"I don't have your record here, so we'll flip a coin," Judge Kessler told the man, adding that the coin would decide between a workhouse sentence or freedom.

"I'm not a gambling man, you call it," Hudson replied.

The judge flipped a dime into the air while Hudson watched.

"Heads, you win," the judge said. Hudson won.

Miss Lindsey, Mr. Miner Exchange Vows in May

Miss Carroll Jean Lindsey, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Paul E. Lindsey, South Bloomfield, became the bride of Mr. Floyd Philip Miner, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Floyd P. Miner, Lehighton, Pa. the first of May in the Lockbourne Methodist Church.

Thh ceremony was performed by Dr. W. Carl Hickey, Lancaster, under an archway of greenery and white May Daisies.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and tulle. The full skirt was trimmed with diamond shaped insertions of lace and ended in a court train.

Her fingertip veil was caught to a pearl in iridescent crown and she carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and lilies of the valley.

Miss Linda Lou Stoer, Mt. Sterling, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Lee Lindsey, sister of the bride, and Miss Marilyn Adams, Peebles, cousin of the bride. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Ann King, Mt. Sterling and Miss Barbara Huffman, Lehighton, Pa.

Miss Kathleen Lindsey, sister of the bride, was flower girl and Mr. Eugene Noble, London, was ring bearer.

The attendants wore ballerina length gowns of embossed nylon in rainbow colors. They wore matching crowns and face veils and carried contrasting bouquets of carnations. The flower girl was in white nylon.

Best man was Mr. William H. Miller, Cleveland, the bridegroom's uncle, and ushers were Mr. Frank Sanders, Easton, Pa.; Mr. Hayden Miner, Weissport, Pa.; Mr. Clarence L. Warner, Lehighton, Pa. and Mr. Lawrence G. Dowler, Groveport.

A reception was held at the Walnut Hill Fellowship Building. Hostesses were Miss Cora Bethel, Mrs. Carol Tussing and Mrs. Lorena Lutz.

Following a wedding trip through the eastern states, the couple will reside near Kuntztown, Pa., where Mr. Miner is enrolled in Kutztown State Teacher's College.

Simplified Home Wave Quick and Efficient

Hair not curly? Summer's the season when this is a sore point.

Along comes a humid day and away goes any trace of curl. Head for a swim session at the beach, and the waves wash out. Either way, your crowning glory is straight, stringy and not very pretty.

Truly, if a permanent was ever needed, it's just about now.

You can give yourself a home wave; it's an easy job. Schedule the treatment for the cool morning hours, before the heat of the day really sets in.

The latest home wave kit is a just-developed end-paper permanent that's a real time-saver. It completely eliminates the use of waving lotion as well as the old splashing and spilling—and who needs such in hot weather?

Instead, the wave kit has fabric end-papers that contain invisible waving ingredients. These special wrappers are made of a lace-type cloth that won't tear when wet or crack or break when dry.

Each end-paper contains a measured amount of waving lotion—just enough for a strand of hair. Thuu the possibility of underwaving or overwaving is eliminated. There won't be any post-perm stragglers or frizz.

Start your wave with clean damp hair. Wind hair on curlers. Use the smaller-sized end-papers for neckline curls and spots where your hair is thicker and longer.

When curls are wound, wet hair with warm water. Sit in front of a cooling fan or do waiting time in an air-conditioned room. Just fifteen minutes processing is needed, then neutralize your hair and the wave is done.

When your curls dry, they'll be soft and pretty, easy to manage. Your hair will be set—and permanent.

FABRIC END PAPERS that contain waving lotion make home permanents easy. You can wave hair in just a few minutes.

Redlands Scene for Tea

Mrs. Phil Smith and Mrs. Carson Horton were hostesses for a tea held yesterday from 2-5 p.m. at Redlands, the home of Mrs. Horton.

The event was attended by 80 guests. In the receiving line along with Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Horton were Miss Sally Eshelman, Mrs. Michael Harrison, Mrs. J. I. Smith III and Mrs. Robert Phillips.

Table for the occasion was decorated in white, including carnations and candles.

Cook thin crescents of celery in a small amount of lightly salted boiling water; drain and make a medium white sauce, using the cooking liquid from the celery for part of the milk. Reheat the drained celery in the sauce.

Many Gifts Suitable for Father's Day

By BARBARA

With Father's Day just a couple of days away we turn our thoughts to our fathers and husbands.

It is the one time of year we appreciate what they do for us. Some of us are planning to serve them their favorite food. Many of us have planned to give them gifts.

If you are wondering what to give, many of the local stores are displaying articles to help us decide.

A few of the items we have seen which would make a nice gift for Dad are: walking shorts with shirts to match; a new line of straw hats; ties and socks to match and many more items which would make a nice gift.

The walking shorts are becoming very popular for the man. They come in Scotch plaids, stripes and solid colors.

The nice part mothers will like about the shorts is that they are washable, some are of the drip-dry type with little or no ironing. The shirts are of the same fabric with trim to match the shorts.

Also one of the stores have ivy-league hats to match their shorts.

The straw hats were of the flat crown type in colors of off-white, beige, light beige, charcoal, black and brown.

The bands featured on the hats were wide in style and of colors to match the straw.

If your husband or father likes to swim, they have a new idea for men's bathing trunks. They are of the stretchy - type nylon material and come in clear plastic bags.

They can be found in plaids or solid colors. The plastic bag is made so the suit can be placed in it after use.

Another nice gift is the tie and sock sets. They are of solid colors with small designs.

Weeky Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Steadily-increasing supplies of fruits and vegetables will ease the strain on food shoppers' pocketbooks this weekend, off setting to some extent continued high prices for meat.

Orchards and vegetable fields in almost all sections of the country are spewing forth produce to augment shipments from the big growing areas in the South and West. These fruits and vegetables from nearby fields in most cases send prices tumbling. Increased supplies eventually will do the same for meat, but just now this section of the housewife's budget remains a headache.

Supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores offer the usual specials this week. They are pretty well scattered among beef, pork, lamb veal, fowl and fish.

Pork loin, ham, fryers and fryer parts are popular offerings. A wide variety of seafood—flounder, mackerel, shrimp, lobster, scallops, whitefish and frozen fish sticks—also are advertised as specials.

Lettuce is the best buy among vegetables, produce men say.

Excellent buys also are available among endive, escarole, asparagus, spinach, cabbage, beets, kohlrabi, Maine potatoes, radishes, green onions and yellow or green squash. In the good buy category are sweet corn, snap beans, Texas onions, tomatoes, new potatoes from Florida and California, cucumbers and peppers.

At fruit counters the big volume imports—Bananas and pineapples—are still the best bets, but melons and other summer favorites are coming up fast. Cantaloups dropped sharply in price this week due to abundant supplies, and watermelons also are cheaper. Strawberries from nearby fields, California lemons and Valencia oranges are good buys. Blueberries, cherries, grapes, plums, nectarines and apricots are getting more plentiful and cheaper every week.

Lausche To Help Dems On Ohio State Ticket

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio Democrats running for statewide offices probably will get a certain amount of help in their campaigns this year from Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio).

However, one political observer said today that Lausche's assistance to campaigns of both Steve Young for the U.S. Senate and Michael V. DiSalle for governor will be limited.

It will not be anything like the all-out campaigns Lausche conducts for himself when he is running, the observer said. He said Lausche's senatorial duties will keep him too busy for that.

Maverick Believes Historians Too Serious about Old West

EDITOR'S NOTE: James Garner, author of the following article, is the star of the ABC-TV "Maverick" program.

By JAMES GARNER

NEW YORK (AP) — When I pause to think of the rich vein of humor the Maverick scripters have tapped to make the series a superior TV product, I'm amazed that most Western historians treated the post-Civil War period like a wake.

We'd been led to believe that 1870 frontiersmen generally had an almost fanatical aversion to any type of humor other than a practical joke. Our silent screen Westerns reflected this mistken premise; so the kids grew up with the idea that Tom Mix, Bill Hart and Hoot Gibson were nurtured on undistilled sour mash.

Our producer, Roy Huggins, a Phi Beta Kappa with enviable writing credits and considerable skill as a researcher, couldn't go along with the theory. Asked at the outset for a terse slogan for the series, he said: "An adult Western—with humor."

With that thought as a starting point, the writing craft was combed for dramatic writers gifted with humor—in distinction to comedy writers noted for building joke routines.

Actors? Well, all I can say is that I'm horribly miscast as Bret and Jack Kelly is a misfit as Bart if they were looking for performers to deliver the melancholy subtleties of psychological drama. We ain't the types.

It would be grossly unfair to any writer formed to take a hunk of his dialogue out of context to illustrate his over-all skill as a humorist, but instances do come sharply to mind to show, generally, the line of thought that bears fruit after Huggins has given a Maverick assignment to a writer.

As I write this, we're putting the finishing touches on a Maverick dubbed "The Day they Hanged Bret Maverick," and I hasten to add that the title doesn't denote the demise of the series. Quite the opposie: It'll probably be the opening show for the new fall series over a expanded ABC-TV network of stations.

I'd be drawn ann quartered if I gave away the plot of "Hanged," but I can assore you that the script by Douglas Heyes is well-larded with sardonii humor. In one of the early shots, Maverick, the iard expert, awaiting his execution in a moldy cell, is calmly cheating at solitaire. That's what you might term a "twist." I'm sure our 1870 frontier ancestors resorted to off-beat or shaggy dog humor. It was the historians who took themselves seriously.

Buyer, Speak Up! Complaint Helpful to Manufactures

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Complain about shoddy or poor merchandise, advises an expert. Often the merchant and the manufacturer don't know it's no good.

Although there are plenty of chronic gripers around to keep store complaint departments busy, the average consumer is too likely to shy away from making complaints, even justified ones, says Prof. Jules Labarthe of Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Often merchants have found only one or two customer complaints about an item, "yet upon investigation some flaw or weakness in the fabric or construction was so serious that we could not imagine every customer being happy with the purchase when she used it," he told a gathering of homemakers recently.

"Too many manufacturers have become more interested in quick eye-appeal than in good construction," insists housewares designer Fred Diamond. "We see it every day in everything from ostentatious automobiles to pots and pans."

Recently, she recalled, a manufacturer brought her three brushes in a new line. She experimented with each.

"They look very nice," she conceded. "But they don't work. Not one does the job it is supposed to do."

An appliance manufacturer recently put on the market a good-looking electric frypan — and only then discovered it was impossiblt to remove the electric plug without scorching the cook's fingers.

"All this is bad design," continued Miss Diamond, and each instance shows that no one has taken the time or effort to find out if the item works right. The test too often these days is merely whether it looks good enough to sell well."

Miss Diamond blames a lot of this trend on some American automobile makers.

"They have done a super-duper job of aiming at vulgar conspicuous consumption," she said. "They've added useless chrome which has destroyed simple good lines. And, because up to now cars have sold so well, other manufacturers think they have hit on the good formula. As a consequence, they have been dragging along our toasters and our vacuum cleaners with them into poor design and bad taste."

Remedies, she feels, lies at the source.

"I don't think manufacturers have made much use of women designers with products largely purchased and used by women," she said. "They usually will pull a woman in on a matter of color. And they will ask a woman how they should sell the item to other women.

"But apparently they don't yet think it is necessary to test the workability of a product with women who could tell them whether it is good or bad."

Meanwhile, dissatisfied customers can help remedy the situation —by complaining.

"If the product does not live up to specifications, it then becomes (the consumer's) responsibility to inform the retailer or the manufacturer of its shortcomings," said Labarthe. ". . .Such reports speed up the identification of good or shoddy merchandise."

Goldfine Explains His Aid to Adams

BOSTON (AP)—Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine confirms that one of his companies had paid hotel bills for Sherman Adams, presidential aide, and Mrs. Adams, but denied Adams had used influence on government officials on Goldfine's behalf.

He contended charges in Washington by a House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight were an "irresponsible smear on my good name and the good name of Sherman Adams."

The statement said the Goldfines and the Adamses have been close friends for 20 years as a result of an acquaintanceship which grew out of his textile manufacturing business.

More than half of Ohio's output of coal is strip mined. In this "strip mining" method the "overburden" is lifted off so that the uncovered bed of coal can be scooped up and loaded into trucks.

Algiers Casbah Is Still a Fort

By RELMAN MORIN

ALGIERS (AP) — In a hole-in-the-wall shop, an Arab merchant starts to answer a question.

"De Gaulle? Well, in my opinion—"

He breaks off abruptly. Two red-hatted French Zouaves, carrying tommyguns, come down the narrow alleyway, heavy boots clattering on the ancient cobblestones.

"As I was saying," says the merchant smoothly changing the subject, "Business is slow. So many people buying on credit."

Even after the Zouaves have passed, he says no more.

Doors slam shut suddenly as you approach. A Moslem woman pulls her veil up to the level of her dark eyes.

This is the Casbah.

The Algiers Casbah, locale for romantic movies and scene of countless love stories, is a place of fear and festering hatred now.

It smells of death.

Last year French paratroops went through it—in effect with fire and sword — hunting down members of the Moslem revolutionary force that has been fighting for nearly four years to shatter French rule in Algeria.

The paratroops blew up great chunks of the thick-walled jumble of buildings, killed some people, wounded others, carried still others off to prison.

So the Casbah is quiet now—except that murders still take place there.

Casbah means fort in Arabic.

You can see why the one on the hill in Algiers was an ideal fort for the Moslem rebels.

It is a fantastic maze of twisting alleys and passageways barely wide enough for two persons to pass. They coil into each other like serpents through tunnels and secret doors that pierce the walls of this vast pile of masonry, interconnecting houses and dwelling places. You could travel miles in the Casbah and never be seen.

In 500 years little or nothing changed there—until recently.

Then, when the savage Moslem rebellion flared against France, and ghastly reprisals came in return, the fort became just that.

Today nobody in the Casbah will talk about the possibility of a reconciliation between the Moslems and the French. French efforts in that direction, and the words of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, new French premier, appear to have had no impression whatsoever on the people here.

"Things are quiet again," they say. "Life goes on."

And that is all they will tell you.

DAR Issues Flag Day Code

Urging full public observance of Flag Day on Saturday, Mrs. R. R. Bales, regent of the Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, issued the following points on why Americans should "protect our Flag":

1. Patriotism is love of country and devotion to its Flag.
2. Remember those who gave their lives for independence.
3. Own your own flag.
4. Try to display it on all national holidays.
5. Educate the public in the correct use of the flag.
6. Choose opportunities to tell others what the flag means.
7. Thank God daily for your freedom.
8. Our flag deserves our love and loyalty.
9. Understand the flag code.
10. Respect our country's laws.
11. Faith is the foundation of a nation.
12. Liberty is a priceless possession.
13. American ideals are the highest in the world.
14. Guard and uphold them all.
15. Protect our flag.

Buyer, Speak Up! Complaint Helpful to Manufactures

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Complain about shoddy or poor merchandise, advises an expert. Often the merchant and the manufacturer don't know it's no good.

Although there are plenty of chronic gripers around to keep store complaint departments busy, the average consumer is too likely to shy away from making complaints, even justified ones, says Prof. Jules Labarthe of Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Often merchants have found only one or two customer complaints about an item, "yet upon investigation some flaw or weakness in the fabric or construction was so serious that we could not imagine every customer being happy with the purchase when she used it," he told a gathering of homemakers recently.

"Too many manufacturers have become more interested in quick eye-appeal than in good construction," insists housewares designer Fred Diamond. "We see it every day in everything from ostentatious automobiles to pots and pans."

Recently, she recalled, a manufacturer brought her three brushes in a new line. She experimented with each.

"They look very nice," she conceded. "But they don't work. Not one does the job it is supposed to do."

An appliance manufacturer recently put on the market a good-looking electric frypan — and only then discovered it was impossiblt to remove the electric plug without scorching the cook's fingers.

"All this is bad design," continued Miss Diamond, and each instance shows that no one has taken the time or effort to find out if the item works right. The test too often these days is merely whether it looks good enough to sell well."

Miss Diamond blames a lot of this trend on some American automobile makers.

"They have done a super-duper job of aiming at vulgar conspicuous consumption," she said. "They've added useless chrome which has destroyed simple good lines. And, because up to now cars have sold so well, other manufacturers think they have hit on the good formula. As a consequence, they have been dragging along our toasters and our vacuum cleaners with them into poor design and bad taste."

Remedies, she feels, lies at the source.

"I don't think manufacturers have made much use of women designers with products largely purchased and used by women," she said. "They usually will pull a shoddy merchandise."

women in on a matter of color. And they will ask a woman how they should sell the item to other women.

"But apparently they don't yet think it is necessary to test the workability of a product with women who could tell them whether it is good or bad."

Meanwhile, dissatisfied customers can help remedy the situation —by complaining.

"If the product does not live up to specifications, it then becomes (the consumer's) responsibility to inform the retailer or the manufacturer of its shortcomings," said Labarthe. ". . .Such reports speed up the identification of good or

Goldfine Explains His Aid to Adams

BOSTON (AP)—Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine confirms that one of his companies had paid hotel bills for Sherman Adams, presidential aide, and Mrs. Adams, but denied Adams had used influence on government officials on Goldfine's behalf.

He contended charges in Washington by a House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight were an "irresponsible smear on my good name and the good name of Sherman Adams."

The statement said the Goldfines and the Adamses have been close friends for 20 years as a result of an acquaintanceship which grew out of his textile manufacturing business.

Algiers Casbah Is Still a Fort

By RELMAN MORIN

ALGIERS (AP) — In a hole-in-the-wall shop, an Arab merchant starts to answer a question.

"De Gaulle? Well, in my opinion—"

He breaks off abruptly. Two red-hatted French Zouaves, carrying tommyguns, come down the narrow alleyway, heavy boots clattering on the ancient cobblestones.

"As I was saying," says the merchant smoothly changing the subject, "Business is slow. So many people buying on credit."

Even after the Zouaves have passed, he says no more.

Doors slam shut suddenly as you approach. A Moslem woman pulls her veil up to the level of her dark eyes.

This is the Casbah.

The Algiers Casbah, locale for romantic movies and scene of countless love stories, is a place of fear and festering hatred now.

It smells of death.

Last year French paratroops went through it—in effect with fire and sword — hunting down members of the Moslem revolutionary force that has been fighting for nearly four years to shatter French rule in Algeria.

The paratroops blew up great chunks of the thick-walled jumble of buildings, killed some people, wounded others, carried still others off to prison.

So the Casbah is quiet now—except that murders still take place there.

Casbah means fort in Arabic.

You can see why the one on the hill in Algiers was an ideal fort for the Moslem rebels.

It is a fantastic maze of twisting alleys and passageways barely wide enough for two persons to pass. They coil into each other like serpents through tunnels and secret doors that pierce the walls of this vast pile of masonry, interconnecting houses and dwelling places. You could travel miles in the Casbah and never be seen.

In 500 years little or nothing changed there—until recently.

Then, when the savage Moslem rebellion flared against France, and ghastly reprisals came in return, the fort became just that.

Today nobody in the Casbah will talk about the possibility of a reconciliation between the Moslems and the French. French efforts in that direction, and the words of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, new French premier, appear to have had no impression whatsoever on the people here.

"Things are quiet again," they say. "Life goes on."

And that is all they will tell you.

DAR Issues Flag Day Code

Urging full public observance of Flag Day on Saturday, Mrs. R. R. Bales, regent of the Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, issued the following points on why Americans should "protect our Flag":

1. Patriotism is love of country and devotion to its Flag.
2. Remember those who gave their lives for independence.
3. Own your own flag.
4. Try to display it on all national holidays.
5. Educate the public in the correct use of the flag.
6. Choose opportunities to tell others what the flag means.
7. Thank God daily for your freedom.
8. Our flag deserves our love and loyalty.
9. Understand the flag code.
10. Respect our country's laws.
11. Faith is the foundation of a nation.
12. Liberty is a priceless possession.
13. American ideals are the highest in the world.
14. Guard and uphold them all.
15. Protect our flag.

Animals Help Small Patients

By FRANKLIN JOHNSON
Central Press Association
Correspondent

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Pets are a new prescription for pepping up little patients here in the children's department at the University hospital of the University of Michigan.

Dr. James L. Wilson, chairman of the pediatrics department, and his aides have been experimenting with their new "miracle drug" for some time, and they find it highly effective. They suggest that it might also work in home sickrooms if handled carefully.

The use of friendly, cuddly animals to take the thoughts of bedridden juveniles off their troubles and discomforts at the University hospital goes far beyond just the child's pleasure, says Dr. Wilson.

However, since the pets as used by the medics here are "medicine" which is co-ordinated with other treatments, Dr. Wilson warns that they should not be introduced into therapy in the home without the full approval of the doctor in the case.

The idea of setting up the pet menagerie here stemmed directly from Dr. Wilson's reasoning that the traditional companionship of "a boy and his dog" could be translated into something tangible in sickroom treatment. He figured that children with their natural affinity for all living things might borrow some of the vitality of their little pets.

The pediatricians at the hospital have confirmed that carefully chosen pets that are used judiciously and with strict adherence to sanitation and cleanliness help to establish "a let's get well attitude" on the part of the sick youngsters.

One of the pet "interns" is a South American honey bear which delights the children with his acrobatics of walking a tightrope wire strung across the ward, and for good measure he does it upside down!

Dr. Wilson explains that since some of the children are in traction after bone fractures or are learning to use paralyzed and injured limbs again, the antics of the plucky animal is inspiring to them. Besides, he is just plain funny!

Other members of the hospital "zoo" include turtles, rabbits, a deodorized skunk, puppies, kittens, ducklings and chicks. They are checked out by nurses and doctors for patients much as library books are borrowed.

However, the presence of the pets is carefully supervised so that the animals thrive as well as the patients. The children are taught how to take care of them, and that excessive petting is not good for their animal visitors.

Goldfish, small turtles and tropical fish often have become valuable adjuncts in the treatment of nervous patients, and are particularly adapted to the home sicklarly adapted they stay put.

Birds, dogs and cats also work well at home, but Dr. Wilson cautions parents on several points. "Birds, especially parakeets, are known on very rare occasions to carry psittacosis (parrot fever) and dogs and cats sometimes have worms. So the family doctor is the best person to consult on this matter. After all, he is treating the patient, and should determine whether a pet will be medicine or menace."

Right-to-Work Backers Say Issue Is Cinch for Ballot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The so-called right-to-work issue will have the necessary signatures to put it on the Nov. 4 ballot, Frank J. Egner, chairman of Ohioans for Right to Work, Inc., predicted Wednesday.

"We are nearing the halfway mark on the 354,200 signatures needed," he said. "For the first time, our progress—in the past 10 days—has put me in a position to predict with confidence that we will have the needed signatures by Aug. 1."

Aug. 5 is the filing deadline to put the constitutional amendment proposal on the ballot.

Egner, a Findlay transport company executive, said there have been attempts to intimidate petition circulators but that these have stimulated rather than retarded the campaign.

Egner's statement listed several incidents involving circulators, together with affidavits attesting to the following:

A woman circulator was told by two union leaders to stop circulating the petition. When she refused, she was told:

"All right, we may not stop you from circulating the petition. But you have two children; we can get to them."

In another incident, a store proprietor was ordered to recall a filed petition, which he had turned in, and destroy it, or his store would be picketed.

Walter L. Davis, director of United Organized Labor in Ohio, urged Egner to give names, dates and places cited in the reported affidavits or risk suspicion about their existence. He added that the information also would help his organization prevent any recurrence.

The petition signatures are needed to place the right-to-work issue on the ballot so voters can decide if they want the proposed change in the state Constitution.

The proposal would prohibit the union shop in the state. A union shop requires membership in a union for a worker to remain on the job after a period of employment—usually 30 days.

Right-to-Work Backers Say Issue Is Cinch for Ballot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The so-called right-to-work issue will have the necessary signatures to put it on the Nov. 4 ballot, Frank J. Egner, chairman of Ohioans for Right to Work, Inc., predicted Wednesday.

"We are nearing the halfway mark on the 354,200 signatures needed," he said. "For the first time, our progress—in the past 10 days—has put me in a position to predict with confidence that we will have the needed signatures by Aug. 1."

Aug. 5 is the filing deadline to put the constitutional amendment proposal on the ballot.

Egner, a Findlay transport company executive, said there have been attempts to intimidate petition circulators but that these have stimulated rather than retarded the campaign.

Egner's statement listed several incidents involving circulators, together with affidavits attesting to the following:

A woman circulator was told by two union leaders to stop circulating the petition. When she refused, she was told:

"All right, we may not stop you from circulating the petition. But you have two children; we can get to them."

In another incident, a store proprietor was ordered to recall a filed petition, which he had turned in, and destroy it, or his store would be picketed.

Walter L. Davis, director of United Organized Labor in Ohio, urged Egner to give names, dates and places cited in the reported affidavits or risk suspicion about their existence. He added that the information also would help his organization prevent any recurrence.

The petition signatures are needed to place the right-to-work issue on the ballot so voters can decide if they want the proposed change in the state Constitution.

The proposal would prohibit the union shop in the state. A union shop requires membership in a union for a worker to remain on the job after a period of employment—usually 30 days.

Housewife Leader Dies

New Rides Boom Rocket Age

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

CHICAGO — If anyone doubts that there will be plenty of volunteers for the first rocket rides to the moon and outer space, he ought to see what the operators of the nation's big amusement parks are brewing up for their millions of fun-seekers in the months ahead.

Everywhere the rides will be faster, the side shows scarier, and the "stars" of the shows will be the "comets," "stratostats," "flying saucers," hot rods, and controlled parachute jumps.

Here at Riverview, which is celebrating its 55th anniversary and is considered by many to be the bellwether of a fantastic industry that must scare "the living daylights" out of its customers to attract them, they are featuring a fiendish new contraption called "The Wild Mouse" and a hair-raising hot rod automobile ride where the track is vertical — end over end—instead of horizontal.

"Speed if what they want, and speed if what they'll get," says William B. Schmidt, president of the National Association of Amusement Parks, Pools and Beaches.

In the space of 30 feet, the little cars inside "The Wild Mouse" attain a speed of 90 miles an hour. Turns are neither banked nor graded, but are right-angle. Sound effects like splitting couplings add the final shiver. "Great training for rocket blastoffs," comments Schmidt.

Similar harrowing thrills are in store for visitors to Atlantic City's Steel Pier; New York City's Coney Island and Palisades Park, Coney Island in Cincinnati, Willow Grove in Philadelphia, Playland in San Francisco, and the rest of about 400 big amusement parks throughout the country that expect their biggest seasons in history.

The old standby thriller, the roller coaster, will be going strong. At Riverview they have four complete systems, snaking over the sprawling, 70-acre tract.

The biggest in the U. S. is Riverview's huge "Bobs," which operates like a complete railway system with blocklights and automatic brakes with "dead man controls" if anything should happen to the operator. If a roller train fails to clear its block within the allotted five and one-half seconds, everything comes to a screaming halt.

As always, the operatores are holding their breaths over the weather. With an average season of only 125 days, black ink turns quickly to red if more than a fourth are rainy, especially Labor Day and July Fourth.

As the rides get faster and the crowds get denser, the safety precautions become even more stringent, according to Schmidt and another veteran operator, George A. Hamid of the Atlantic City Pier.

New rides like the somersaulting hot rod at Riverview cost $35,000 to build, but a single accident could be ruinous. Park experts, city officials and insurance inspectors team to check everything. During winter months, every ride is knocked down completely and parts even just suspected of being worn are replaced.

The roller coasters are loaded with sandbags weighing more than twice their rated capacity and put through their paces. At Riverview, the manager of every attraction has to "walk his ride" at the start of each shift to see that everything is OK.

Running the thrill rides is just part of it. Riverview's commissary requirements sound like a youngster's wildest dream: 600,000 ice cream cones; 40 tons of popcorn (500,000 bags); 250,000 candy bars; 500,000 hot dogs.

At the start of each day they have to be sure 200,000 pennies, 200,000 nickels, 75,000 dimes and 10,000 quarters are on hand to make change.

In terms of nostalgia and actual rides carried, the favorite of all continues to be—you guessed it!—the merry-go-round. Riverview is proudest of its carousel, with real wooden horses carved in 1906 at a cost of $250 each.

"That's the way it will be in the rocket age," forecasts Schmidt. "We'll still get thrills out of down-to-earth things," says this specialist in thrills. "Our tunnel of love still pulls 'em in, too, even though it is brightly lit every few yards."

These hot rods that race on a vertical, not horizontal, track are typical of new, faster, wilder amusement park rides.

REBEL IN LEBANON—An insurgent shoots it out with Lebanese troops in the Old Town of Tripoli, during a pitched battle. Government forces used tanks, artillery and jet fighters against the entrenched rebels in the port city, killing an estimated 30 and wounding 40 before the fighting ended. (UPI)

Traffic lights blink green for the bobbing sea of white-faced Herefords as they plunge through the streets of John Day town on their way to and from summer pasturage.

Cattle Drive Revives Old West

By RALPH FRIEDMAN
Central Press Association Correspondent

JOHN DAY, Ore.— It's a chill dawn in the highland town of John Day. The pine-sharp air is full of early morning silence; the stores are locked, the streets are empty. It could be any small country town asleep in the small hours of a young spring day.

Suddenly the silence is broken! Like distant thunder, a far-off, vague rumbling is felt. Someone houts, "Here they come!" Then, all at once, John Day loses of resemblance to any other town.

Down Main street, past the South Seas cafe, the Orpheum theater, and the Grant County bank, squeezing past the few parked cars, comes a plodding mass of groaning, white - faced Herefords. Hundreds of cattle spill forward, advancing like the tide of a heaving brown sea.

For an hour or two the streets are full; then the Herefords are gone, rumbling toward the summer range in Bear valley, 25 miles to the southwest, and John Day resumes its life as a contemporary eastern Oregon township—until autumn, when the cattle are again driven down Main street, this time back to the Herman Oliver ranch, two miles east of town.

Most of John Day's 1,800 inhabitants have become innured to the semi-annual event, but to casual visitors it's a scene out of a western movie.

To the man who is top boss of the herd, Herman Oliver, it is strictly routine. Actually, he would just as soon find another route from his ranch to the Bear valley, but the John Day valley reaches its narrowest point at John Day town. There just isn't any other way to get to and from the summer grazing grounds.

It is altogether fitting, in the minds of John Day valley and Grant county folk, that the boss of this colorful spectacle be the 73-year-old Oliver, for to cattlerich John Day valley, as to all Oregon, Oliver is "Mr. Cattleman."

Son of a pioneer settler, Oliver was born less than three miles from where he now lives. For more than half a century he has been a prominent cattleman, and for many years had one of the largest spreads in the Pacific Northwest.

Oliver, who could ride a horse at four, still is in the saddle at least eight hours a day, and on days off goes riding into the hills with the Vaqueros, a group of Grant county ranchers.

Delaware, is the home of the Grand circuit (the only county fair in the U.S. having this program) with the classic "Little Brown Jug," America's finest race for pacers - a nationally known annual event.

High Court To Study Hidden Weapon Case

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has agreed to review an appellate court order for trial of Joseph Betts, Cleveland, on a charge of carrying concealed weapons under state law instead of a municipal ordinance.

The appellate court, in reversing Betts' Municipal Court conviction, said a city ordinance making it a misdemeanor to carry concealed weapons was in conflict with a state law making it a felony. Betts had a gun in the glove compartment of his car.

Westinghouse Loses Appeal to High Court

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has rejected an appeal by Westinghouse Electric Corp. in a suit by the estate of Lonnie Steele who was electrocuted by a short circuit in a milk cooler on the Madison County farm of C. E. Carr in 1948.

Common pleas court held for the company in the damage action but an appellate court reversed and returned the case for further proceedings. The company appealed the reversal to the high court.

Columbus Lawyer Pays Fine, Loses License

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Robert Dow Hamilton, 41-year-old Columbus attorney, was fined $125 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for six months Wednesday when he appeared in Municipal Court on a series of traffic charges.

Judge James A. Harmon dismissed a charge against the lawyer for failure to display his driver's license. He was fined $25 and costs for resisting an officer, $50 and costs for failing to comply with an officer's command, and $50 and costs and his license suspended for reckless driving.

Aftermath of Nixon Visit

Venezuela Still Investigates Attack Against U.S. Veep

By LARRY ALLEN

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The Venezuelan government still is investigating the causes of the mob attacks upon U.S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon here a month ago Friday. It has given no indication of what it has learned, and the whole affair has been pretty well expunged from local memories.

The Ministry of Interior says it does not know how many of the more than 100 persons arrested for stone throwing and other violent acts are still in jail or whether anyone has been punished.

There seems to be general agreement everywhere that the incident was Communist inspired.

Caracas newspapers published declarations by junta President Wolfgang Larrazabal after the touring vice president and his wife were attacked that an intensive investigation would be made. Since then there has been no mention of the inquiry in any newspaper.

Members of the American colony in Venezuela express belief the ardor of the investigation had been considerably dampened. They attribute this to news that the United States had alerted troops for a rescue of Nixon and his party, if needed and if requested by Venezuela.

Venezuelans who expressed shame and humiliation quickly stopped apologizing. Instead, they launched bitter attacks against the United States for daring to think of sending troops and intervening in Venezuelan affairs.

The Communists seem pleased that the responsibility for what they called "a demonstration of national revenue" had been laid at their door.

From the American viewpoint here, Communists, fast rising to places of power and influence in this country, saw in the Nixon good will visit a chance to capitalize on Venezuela's economic and other complaints against the United States.

Venezuelan-American relations cooled considerably after the United States put restrictions on the imports of oil from this country. That coolness merged into icyness in many Venezuelan quarters after learning that the United States had given refuge to ex-dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez in Miami.

Venezuela now is preparing to ask that Perez Jimenez be extradited here for trial.

The United States has indicated it would promptly consider an extradition request.

There also is a feeling the United States should give more consideration to Latin America as a whole in its distribution of foreign aid to help many countries improve their standard of living.

There is a big segment of Venezuelans who feel that while what happened to the Nixons was deplorable, it nevertheless was the means of focusing attention upon Venezuela and the rest of Latin America and served as a warning that the United States had better pay more attention to its own backyard.

By LARRY ALLEN

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The Venezuelan government still is investigating the causes of the mob attacks upon U.S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon here a month ago Friday. It has given no indication of what it has learned, and the whole affair has been pretty well expunged from local memories.

The Ministry of Interior says it does not know how many of the more than 100 persons arrested for stone throwing and other violent acts are still in jail or whether anyone has been punished.

There seems to be general agreement everywhere that the incident was Communist inspired.

Caracas newspapers published declarations by junta President Wolfgang Larrazabal after the touring vice president and his wife were attacked that an intensive investigation would be made. Since then there has been no mention of the inquiry in any newspaper.

Members of the American colony in Venezuela express belief the ardor of the investigation had been considerably dampened. They attribute this to news that the United States had alerted troops for a rescue of Nixon and his party, if needed and if requested by Venezuela.

Venezuelans who expressed shame and humiliation quickly stopped apologizing. Instead, they launched bitter attacks against the United States for daring to think of sending troops and intervening in Venezuelan affairs.

The Communists seem pleased that the responsibility for what they called "a demonstration of national revenue" had been laid at their door.

From the American viewpoint here, Communists, fast rising to places of power and influence in this country, saw in the Nixon good will visit a chance to capitalize on Venezuela's economic and other complaints against the United States.

Venezuelan-American relations cooled considerably after the United States put restrictions on the imports of oil from this country. That coolness merged into icyness in many Venezuelan quarters after learning that the United States had given refuge to ex-dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez in Miami.

Venezuela now is preparing to ask that Perez Jimenez be extradited here for trial.

The United States has indicated it would promptly consider an extradition request.

There also is a feeling the United States should give more consideration to Latin America as a whole in its distribution of foreign aid to help many countries improve their standard of living.

There is a big segment of Venezuelans who feel that while what happened to the Nixons was deplorable, it nevertheless was the means of focusing attention upon Venezuela and the rest of Latin America and served as a warning that the United States had better pay more attention to its own backyard.

Those Bums Look Like Bums Again Umpire Is Jawed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Those Dodgers at last look like Dodgers. A batter gets tossed out of the game for jawin' at the plate, a runner scores from second on a two-run sacrifice fly and Don Drysdale, their young ace, finally has a complete game victory to go with eight defeats.

Except for being in last place, things are almost normal.

Drysdale, the 21-year-old right-hander, went all the way for a 7-4 victory over the Phils Wednesday night, giving up nine hits, but striking out six and allowing only two earned runs.

Milwaukee, meanwhile, regained the National League lead as the Braves ended their longest losing streak since 1956 at 5 games with a 10-7 victory over the Chicago Cubs. San Francisco slipped to second, .005 percentage points behind, as the Pittsburgh Pirates breezed in on Frank Thomas' seven runs batted in for a 14-6 victory and the Giants' fourth loss in a row.

The St. Louis Cardinals took third, three games behind, with a 3-2, 12-inning victory over Cincinnati.

A four-run third inning did the job for Drysdale, now 3-8, and the Dodgers, once more just a half-game behind the seventh place Phillies. The two-run sacrifice fly was a 420-foot smack by Carl Furillo with the bases loaded. Richie Ashburn took it over his shoulder in center field, but by the time he got back within sight of the plate, Peewee Reese was across it after a dash from second base.

Charlie Neal was tossed out for arguing a 2-1 pitch. He was the first Dodger to be ejected in Los Angeles, and Johnny Podres became No. 2 seconds later for his bellowing from the bench.

Ken Boyer's leadoff 11th homer won it for the Cards in the 12th, ending a four-inning shutout relief duel between winner Morrie Martin (2-1) and Redleg Hal Jeffcoat (3-3). Frank Robinson drove in both Redleg runs, one with his fourth homer for a 2-2 tie in the seventh.

Thomas celebrated his 29th birthday by taking the home run lead with a pair, one a grand-slam, and also gaining the RBI lead. His second homer, No. 19, was his second bases-loaded shot in the majors, both off the Giants (the first was April 23, 1953), and gave the Pirates a 10-2 lead in the second inning. Vern Law won his sixth with relief help while Ruben Gomez (5-5) lost it.

The Braves blew a 5-0 lead, but nailed it with three in the seventh off losing reliever Don Elston (6-4). Unbeaten Ernie Johnson won his third in relief. Joe Adcock hit his sixth grandslam homer in the Braves' first. Andy Pafko drove in three runs for Milwaukee, singling home the tie breaker in the seventh.

Bill Norman had a pretty simple plan for arousing the Detroit Tigers in his managerial debut. "This is too good a club to be last," he told 'em. So they went out and jumped clear of the American League cellar by sweeping a doubleheader at Boston, where they hadn't won since last year.

The Tigers came alive with 13 hits in each half of the afternoon-night pair. Frank Lary ended the Red Sox' winning string at six with a five-hit shutout, 7-0. Then Billy Martin hit two home runs in one game for the first time in the majors for a 9-3 success Wednesday night.

The first place New York Yankees upped their lead to 9 games again, using hits and breaks for a 10-2 and 2-1 sweep over second place Kansas City. Don Larsen won his ninth in a row over two seasons in the opener and once-beaten Bob Turley became the first to win 10 in the majors in the nightcap.

Washington plunked the Chicago White Sox into the cellar, 5-2; and Baltimore rapped Cleveland 7-4.

Frank Malzone had six of Boston's 13 hits for the day, including three doubles. He was 4-for-4 in the second game.

Brooks Robinson drove in three runs with two singles for the Orioles, who bagged it with five runs in the fourth. Milt Pappas won his third but tired and left after six innings. Dick Tomanek (2-3) was the loser.

Russ Kemmerer (3-3) beat the White Sox with a six-hitter, retiring the last 14 in order as the Senators took fourth place. Three runs in the second did it against Bill Fischer (2-3), with Neil Chrisley's triple scoring a pair.

The Yankees clubbed 14 hits in the opener, including Tony Kubek's first homer and Yogi Berra's ninth, then won the second game when reliever Virgil Trucks walked four men and forced a run home in the ninth with two out. Turley had a two-hit shutout for seven in a nightcap duel with Ralph Terry, whose scoreless string ended at 19 innings when the Yankees scored in the seventh.

Tribe Infield Woes Mount With Injuries

BALTIMORE (AP) — Remember Abbott and Costello's old comedy routine about "Who's on first, What's on second, and I Don't Know is on third?"

That is the predicament facing Cleveland Manager Bobby Bragan after Billy Harrell suffered a pulled thigh muscle in the Tribe's 7-4 loss to the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday night. He may not be able to play until next week.

Harrell, who has been playing good ball at shortstop, became the third member of the infield to be sidelined. With second baseman Bobby Avila also suffering a pulled thigh muscle, and first baseman Vic Wertz, a broken ankle, the Indians now are reduced to only four infielders. They are Mickey Vernon at first, Billy Moran at second, Chico Carrasquel at short, and Preston Ward, normally a first sacker, holding down the third base spot.

If things get any worse in the injury department, Bragan could use either J. W. Porter or Rocky Colavito at first, or outfielder Gary Geiger at third.

In Wednesday night's game — in which Geiger, incidentally, was used as a pitcher for two innings— Baltimore scored five runs on five hits off starter and loser Dick Tomanek and Bob Lemon in the fourth inning. That wrapped up the game for all intents and purposes. Baltimore won 7-4.

The Indians led 1-0 going into the Baltimore fourth. Then the roof fell in on Tomanek, who had permitted only a single hit up until that point. A walk was followed by five singles.

With the score 5-1, Geiger came in to hurl in the seventh frame, making his major league debut as a pitcher, although he started at that position in the minor leagues. He gave up two runs.

Tiger Baseballers Enter Chillicothe Jaycee League

Probable members of next years Circleville High School baseball team plan to keep in trim this season.

Under the guidance of Head Coach Dick Fisher, the Tiger returnees have entered the Jaycee Baseball League in Chillicothe. The loop is composed of six teams, including two from Chillicothe, and one each from Waverly, Greenfield and Paint Valley.

Most of the players on these teams are high school baseballers who will participate for their schools next year.

The Circleville squad is sponsored by Kochheiser Hardware.

COACH Fisher, recently appointed to succeed Dick Boyd as head CHS baseball mentor, said the Tigers' first game is scheduled here today at Ted Lewis Park. The opposition will be furnished by Jack and Paul's nine of Chillicothe.

Here is Circleville's schedule: June 17—Waverly (at Chillicothe); June 19—Jennings Sporting Goods (at Chillicothe), June 24—Jack and Paul's (at Chillicothe), June 26—Paint Valley (at Chillicothe); July 1—Greenfield (at Chillicothe); July 10—Waverly (at Chillicothe); July 15—Paint Valley (at Chillicothe); July 17—Jennings (at Circleville); July 22—Greenfield (at Chillicothe).

Ashville Club Planning Show For June 22

The Ashville Riding Club made final plans for its Seventh Annual Horse Show during a monthly meeting held this week in Ashville K of P Hall.

Members decided that the show will be held June 22 at the Ashville Rodeo Grounds.

The meeting was attended by 28 adults and nine junior members. Joyce Hoffman and Boyd Teegarden were visitors.

President Forrest Klamfoth conducted the business meeting.

NEW members taken into the club were Elizabeth Knox, John McKenzie and Tommy Skinner.

It was decided that the next meeting will be a pot-luck supper to be held July 13 at the rodeo grounds.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hoffman, Bob Miller and Barbara Pritchard.

Acme League Has Opening

According to Columbus Acme Baseball League officials, there is an opening for another team in the Circleville area which will be filled on a first come basis.

Acme Baseball is for players 17 and under as of August 1. Players may participate in another loop if they desire.

The Acme fee of $5 per team includes tourneys. Seven leagues already have affiliated for this years state tournament.

Further information on the Acme League may be obtained by writing Frank Evans, 617 Berkley Road, Columbus, Ohio.

Turner, Hart Set for Match

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The ringwise but fading veteran meets the impressive rookie tonight when Gil Turner and Garnet Hart clash in a 10 round fight of ranking welterweights.

The battle, postponed from Tuesday because of rain, should answer a pair of questions: Is Turner at 27 on the way down? Is Hart, 22, on the way up to big money and championship stuff?

Hart spent the last two days in light workouts after tipping the scales at 147 pounds at Tuesday's weigh-in. Turner had to work harder after scaling 150½.

Mickey Wright Still Is Favored

MARBLEHEAD, Mass. (AP) — Mickey Wright sets out today to match the consistent one-over-par pace she feels will win the $12,000 Round Robin Women's Invitational golf tournament.

The tall Californian, conceded the favorite by most of her 15 rivals, says steadiness is the key to mastery of this unusual 90-hole mixture of medal and match play.

The event consists of alternating foursomes. A player gains a point for every stroke less than any other member of her foursome and loses a point for every stroke over.

Martin Pacer Wins 9th Race On Opening Night at Hilliards

Jane R. Counsel, owned, trained and driven by Wayne Martin, won the ninth race, a 25 pace, at Hilliards last night in a time of 2:14.

Hilliards officially opened its harness racing season last night after being rained out on Tuesday. A record crowd of 3,328 were on the card. Feature race of the evening, "The Pochantos Pace" was won by Chief Good Friday in the first division and Dandy Byrd, the favorite, in the second division.

Circleville horses entered were Choice H, driven by Jimmy Mace and owned by Frank Bowling, and Little Carol, owned and driven by Ralph Strous. Choice H. came in fifth in the first heat and eighth in the second. Little Carol paced in seventh in the first heat and sixth in the second.

A total of $78,183 was spent at the mutuals for the first night of racing. Going tonight at Hilliards from Pickaway County are Worthy One, Jimmy Mace up, in the third race, a 26 trot; and Marty's Pride, driven by Jimmy Mace, in the eighth race, a 30 pace.

Feature Hilliards Pace Is Divided

COLUMBUS (AP)—Chief Good Friday and Scottish Rhythm split one half of the Pocahontas Pace and Dandy Byrd won the other half of the feature at the Hilliards Raceway harness racing opener Wednesday night.

The opening, originally scheduled for Tuesday, was set back a night because of rain.

Chief Good Friday, a 5-1 shot, won the first heat of the first division of the Pocahontas by about four lengths, then was edged by Scottish Rhythm in the second heat.

In the second division, Dandy Byrd edged Decor in both heats.

Boros Getting Backing in Open

Long Drive Layout Said Favoring Julius

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The Boros bandwagon began rolling today as play started in the 58th National Open golf championship at sunscorched Southern Hills but the one guy who wouldn't get on it was Julius Boros.

Boros hasn't done anything sensational during the practice rounds over the rolling 6,907-yard layout. But suddenly a lot of people looked at the records and decided that the big fellow who won the title at Dallas in 1952 under the same sort of weather conditions is a contender to be feared as much as Ben Hogan.

Boros chuckles at the suggestion that he doesn't mind the heat. "I can sweat as much as anybody," he said, "but I usually play as well on long courses as short ones."

That's the big difference. Southern Hills is a course that requires long shots and accurate ones. A player who strays off the fairways is due for trouble even though the bermuda grass rough was cut down to a four-inch depth for the tournament.

Golfers who have played with the 218-pound slugger from Southern Pines, N. C., during the past few days say Boros has been shooting some of the finest golf of his career and has the kind of game that is just suited to the Southern Hills course.

About a half dozen players in the 162-man field scheduled to start play today were rated even with Boros.

There's Ben Hogan, who is shooting for an unprecedented fifth National Open; long hitting Cary Middlecoff, who has taken the title twice and lost a playoff last year to Dick Mayer; and a flock of former winners with Mayer at the head of the list.

Tommy Ritter of Wyoming, Ohio, was the first Ohioan to tee off.

He was followed by Jouett T. Schwab of Dayton, Bob Hamrick of Fremont, amateur Mark H. McCormack of Cleveland, Gay Brewer of Cincinnati, Frank Stranahan of Toledo, amateur Jack Nicklaus of Columbus and George F. Bigham of Cleveland.

Tom Nieporte of Cincinnati, former Ohio State star now of Bronxville, N. Y., was due to start in the afternoon.

Two Contests Slated Tonight

Wet grounds forced postponement of two games in the Circleville Independent softball league last night.

The scheduled games were between General Electric and Yellow Bud and Circleville Merchants and Laurelville.

If the diamond drys today, two games will be played tonight. GE will attempt to get its game in with Yellow Bud and Laurelville is slated to meet River Oil.

The first test is set for 7:15 p.m. and the second for 8:30 p.m.

Teen-Ager, Champ To View in Tourney

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — The defending champion, Mrs. James Ferrie, who turned in Welnesday's only par-beating performance, and 17-year-old Sherry Wheeler led the way today into the quarterfinals of the 28th annual Woman's Trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

Sherry, of Glasgow, Ky., took on Mrs. Ferrie of Gardena, Calif.

Mrs. Ferrie defeated Nan Berry of Quincy, Ill., 6 and 5, Wednesday, completing the 13 holes in one under par 72.

Miss Wheeler defeated the Southern Women's Amateur champ, Mrs. Robert Reynolds of Albany, Ga., 3 and 1.

Ohio first State Fair was planned for Cincinnati in 1849 but due to an epidemic of cholera it was postponed until 1852 when it was held at Camp Washington in that city.

Cards Win Over Reds in 12 Innings

ST. LOUIS (AP)—It was just the way the ball bounced—fast and hard off Ken Boyer's bat all the way into the left field bleachers—that put the Cincinnati Redlegs back in fourth place today after 12 innings of play Wednesday night that ended in a 3-2 St. Louis victory.

Boyer's first-pitch homer ended not only a classy relief hurling duel between Redleg Hal Jeffcoat and Morrie Martin, but top-notch defensive fielding on the part of both teams. The Cardinals collected 13 hits — until Boyer's round-tripper—but exactly that number of men were left stranded.

The Redlegs got down to business in the second when George Crowe doubled to left. He was singled home by Frank Robinson.

St. Louis evened matters in the back half of the same frame. Del Ennis doubled and scored on Hal Smith's single to center. In the fifth, the Cards went one-up as Curtis Flood singled and was forced by Smith. Smith was sacrificed along by Jones and scored on Don Blasingame's single to center.

Robinson kept Redlegs hopes alive with his fourth homer of the season in the seventh, to tie the score at 2-all, until Boyer unloaded his bleacher-pole with one out in the 12th.

The victory gave St. Louis possession of third place.

The teams wind up their current series tonight, with Brooks Lawrence (3-3) pitted against Larry Jackson (4-2) or Vinegar Bend Mizell (3-5).

The Recipe

Sift together ¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour and ¾ teaspoon Clabber Girl Baking Powder; combine with ½ cup whole bran cereal, 1 cup chopped nut meats, and ½ cup finely chopped dates. Beat 2 eggs until light and foamy; add 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla extract; beat thoroughly. Add dry ingredients and stir until well blended. Spread mixture evenly in a greased 11 x 7 x 1½-inch baking pan. Bake in a 350° F. (moderate) oven about 35 minutes. Cut in 2 x 1-inch bars while warm; cool. Roll each bar in confectioners sugar. Yield: 33 date bars

The "most important" thing about baking...

It's the balance of ingredients in baking powder that governs its leavening action. Only when these are scientifically balanced can you be sure of uniform action in the mixing bowl plus that final, balanced rise to light and fluffy texture in the oven.

Balanced Double Action means Better Baking!

Those Bums Look Like Bums Again Umpire Is Jawed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Those Dodgers at last look like Dodgers. A batter gets tossed out of the game for jawin' at the plate, a runner scores from second on a two-run sacrifice fly and Don Drysdale, their young ace, finally has a complete game victory to go with eight defeats.

Except for being in last place, things are almost normal.

Drysdale, the 21-year-old right-hander, went all the way for a 7-4 victory over the Phils Wednesday night, giving up nine hits, but striking out six and allowing only two earned runs.

Milwaukee, meanwhile, regained the National League lead as the Braves ended their longest losing streak since 1956 at 5 games with a 10-7 victory over the Chicago Cubs. San Francisco slipped to second, .005 percentage points behind, as the Pittsburgh Pirates breezed in on Frank Thomas' seven runs batted in for a 14-6 victory and the Giants' fourth loss in a row.

The St. Louis Cardinals took third, three games behind, with a 3-2, 12-inning victory over Cincinnati.

A four-run third inning did the job for Drysdale, now 3-8, and the Dodgers, once more just a half-game behind the seventh place Phillies. The two-run sacrifice fly was a 420-foot smack by Carl Furillo with the bases loaded. Richie Ashburn took it over his shoulder in center field, but by the time he got back within sight of the plate, Peewee Reese was across it after a dash from second base.

Charlie Neal was tossed out for arguing a 2-1 pitch. He was the first Dodger to be ejected in Los Angeles, and Johnny Podres became No. 2 seconds later for his bellowing from the bench.

Ken Boyer's leadoff 11th homer won it for the Cards in the 12th, ending a four-inning shutout relief duel between winner Morrie Martin (2-1) and Redleg Hal Jeffcoat (3-3). Frank Robinson drove in both Redleg runs, one with his fourth homer for a 2-2 tie in the seventh.

Thomas celebrated his 29th birthday by taking the home run lead with a pair, one a grand-slam, and also gaining the RBI lead. His second homer, No. 19, was his second bases-loaded shot in the majors, both off the Giants (the first was April 23, 1953), and gave the Pirates a 10-2 lead in the second inning. Vern Law won his sixth with relief help while Ruben Gomez (5-5) lost it.

The Braves blew a 5-0 lead, but nailed it with three in the seventh off losing reliever Don Elston (6-4). Unbeaten Ernie Johnson won his third in relief. Joe Adcock hit his sixth grandslam homer in the Braves' first. Andy Pafko drove in three runs for Milwaukee, singling home the tie breaker in the seventh.

Bill Norman had a pretty simple plan for arousing the Detroit Tigers in his managerial debut. "This is too good a club to be last," he told 'em. So they went out and jumped clear of the American League cellar by sweeping a doubleheader at Boston, where they hadn't won since last year.

The Tigers came alive with 13 hits in each half of the afternoon-night pair. Frank Lary ended the Red Sox' winning string at six with a five-hit shutout, 7-0. Then Billy Martin hit two home runs in one game for the first time in the majors for a 9-3 success Wednesday night.

The first place New York Yankees upped their lead to 9 games again, using hits and breaks for a 10-2 and 2-1 sweep over second place Kansas City. Don Larsen won his ninth in a row over two seasons in the opener and once-beaten Bob Turley became the first to win 10 in the majors in the nightcap.

Washington plunked the Chicago White Sox into the cellar, 5-2; and Baltimore rapped Cleveland 7-4.

Frank Malzone had six of Boston's 13 hits for the day, including three doubles. He was 4-for-4 in the second game.

Brooks Robinson drove in three runs with two singles for the Orioles, who bagged it with five runs in the fourth. Milt Pappas won his third but tired and left after six innings. Dick Tomanek (2-3) was the loser.

Russ Kemmerer (3-3) beat the White Sox with a six-hitter, retiring the last 14 in order as the Senators took fourth place. Three runs in the second did it against Bill Fischer (2-3), with Neil Chrisley's triple scoring a pair.

The Yankees clubbed 14 hits in the opener, including Tony Kubek's first homer and Yogi Berra's ninth, then won the second game when reliever Virgil Trucks walked four men and forced a run home in the ninth with two out. Turley had a two-hit shutout for seven in a nightcap duel with Ralph Terry, whose scoreless string ended at 19 innings when the Yankees scored in the seventh.

Tribe Infield Woes Mount With Injuries

BALTIMORE (AP) — Remember Abbott and Costello's old comedy routine about "Who's on first, What's on second, and I Don't Know is on third?"

That is the predicament facing Cleveland Manager Bobby Bragan after Billy Harrell suffered a pulled thigh muscle in the Tribe's 7-4 loss to the Baltimore Orioles Wednesd y night. He may not be able to play until next week.

Harrell, who has been playing good ball at shortstop, became the third member of the infield to be sidelined. With second baseman Bobby Avila also suffering a pulled thigh muscle, and first baseman Vic Wertz, a broken ankle, the Indians now are reduced to only four infielders. They are Mickey Vernon at first, Billy Moran at second, Chico Carrasquel at short, and Preston Ward, normally a first sacker, holding down the third base spot.

If things get any worse in the injury department, Bragan could use either J. W. Porter or Rocky Colavito at first, or outfielder Gary Geiger at third.

In Wednesday night's game — in which Geiger, incidentally, was used as a pitcher for two innings—Baltimore scored five runs on five hits off starter and loser Dick Tomanek and Bob Lemon in the fourth inning. That wrapped up the game for all intents and purposes. Baltimore won 7-4.

The Indians led 1-0 going into the Baltimore fourth. Then the roof fell in on Tomanek, who had permitted only a single hit up until that point. A walk was followed by five singles.

With the score 5-1, Geiger came in to hurl in the seventh frame, making his major league debut as a pitcher, although he started at that position in the minor leagues. He gave up two runs.

Tiger Baseballers Enter Chillicothe Jaycee League

Probable members of next years Circleville High School baseball team plan to keep in trim this season.

Under the guidance of Head Coach Dick Fisher, the Tiger returnees have entered the Jaycee Baseball League in Chillicothe. The loop is composed of six teams, including two from Chillicothe, and one each from Waverly, Greenfield and Paint Valley.

Most of the players on these teams are high school baseballers who will participate for their schools next year.

The Circleville squad is sponsored by Kochheiser Hardware.

Turner, Hart Set for Match

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The ringwise but fading veteran meets the impressive rookie tonight when Gil Turner and Garnet Hart clash in a 10 round fight of ranking welterweights.

The battle, postponed from Tuesday because of rain, should answer a pair of questions: Is Turner at 27 on the way down? Is Hart, 22, on the way up to big money and championship stuff?

Hart spent the last two days in light workouts after tipping the scales at 147 pounds at Tuesday's weigh-in. Turner had to work harder after scaling 150½.

Mickey Wright Still Is Favored

MARBLEHEAD, Mass. (AP) — Mickey Wright sets out today to match the consistent one-over-par pace she feels will win the $12,000 Round Robin Women's Invitational golf tournament.

The tall Californian, conceded the favorite by most of her 15 rivals, says steadiness is the key to mastery of this unusual 90-hole mixture of medal and match play.

The event consists of alternating foursomes. A player gains a point for every stroke less than any other member of her foursome and loses a point for every stroke over.

Martin Pacer Wins 9th Race On Opening Night at Hilliards

Jane R. Counsel, owned, trained and driven by Wayne Martin, won the ninth race, a 25 pace, at Hilliards last night in a time of 2:14.

Hilliards officially opened its harness racing season last night after being rained out on Tuesday. A record crowd of 3,328 were on the card. Feature race of the evening, "The Pochantos Pace" was won by Chief Good Friday in the first division and Dandy Byrd, the favorite, in the second division.

Circleville horses entered were Choice H, driven by Jimmy Mace and owned by Frank Bowling, and Little Carol, owned and driven by Ralph Strous. Choice H. came in fifth in the first heat and eighth in the second. Little Carol paced in seventh in the first heat and sixth in the second.

A total of $78,183 was spent at the mutuals for the first night of racing. Going tonight at Hilliards from Pickaway County are Worthy One, Jimmy Mace up, in the third race, a 26 trot; and Marty's Pride, driven by Jimmy Mace, in the eighth race, a 30 pace.

Feature Hilliards Pace Is Divided

COLUMBUS (AP)—Chief Good Friday and Scottish Rhythm split one half of the Pocahontas Pace and Dandy Byrd won the other half of the feature at the Hilliards Raceway harness racing opener Wednesday night.

The opening, originally scheduled for Tuesday, was set back a night because of rain.

Chief Good Friday, a 5-1 shot, won the first heat of the first division of the Pocahontas by about four lengths, then was edged by Scottish Rhythm in the second heat.

In the second division, Dandy Byrd edged Decor in both heats.

Two Contests Slated Tonight

Wet grounds forced postponement of two games in the Circleville Independent softball league last night.

The scheduled games were between General Electric and Yellow Bud and Circleville Merchants and Laurelville.

If the diamond drys today, two games will be played tonight. GE will attempt to get its game in with Yellow Bud and Laurelville is slated to meet River Oil.

The first test is set for 7:15 p.m. and the second for 8:30 p.m.

Teen-Ager, Champ To View in Tourney

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — The defending champion, Mrs. James Ferrie, who turned in Welnesday's only par-beating performance, and 17-year-old Sherry Wheeler led the way today into the quarterfinals of the 28th annual Woman's Trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

Sherry, of Glasgow, Ky., took on Mrs. Ferrie of Gardena, Calif.

Mrs. Ferrie defeated Nan Berry of Quincy, Ill., 6 and 5, Wednesday, completing the 13 holes in one under par 72.

Miss Wheeler defeated the Southern Women's Amateur champ, Mrs. Robert Reynolds of Albany, Ga., 3 and 1.

Ohio first State Fair was planned for Cincinnati in 1849 but due to an epidemic of cholera it was postponed until 1852 when t was held at Camp Washington in that city.

Cards Win Over Reds in 12 Innings

ST. LOUIS (AP)—It was just the way the ball bounced—fast and hard off Ken Boyer's bat all the way into the left field bleachers—that put the Cincinnati Redlegs back in fourth place today after 12 innings of play Wednesday night that ended in a 3-2 St. Louis victory.

Boyer's first-pitch homer ended not only a classy relief hurling duel between Redleg Hal Jeffcoat and Morrie Martin, but top-notch defensive fielding on the part of both teams. The Cardinals collected 13 hits — until Boyer's round-tripper—but exactly that number of men were left stranded.

The Redlegs got down to business in the second when George Crowe doubled to left. He was singled home by Frank Robinson.

St. Louis evened matters in the back half of the same frame. Del Ennis doubled and scored on Hal Smith's single to center. In the fifth, the Cards went one-up as Curtis Flood singled and was forced by Smith. Smith was sacrificed along by Jones and scored on Don Blasingame's single to center.

Robinson kept Redlegs hopes alive with his fourth homer of the season in the seventh, to tie the score at 2-all, until Boyer unloaded his bleacher-pole with one out in the 12th.

The victory gave St. Louis possession of third place.

The teams wind up their current series tonight, with Brooks Lawrence (3-3) pitted against Larry Jackson (4-2) or Vinegar Bend Mizell (3-5).

The Recipe

Sift together ¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour and ¾ teaspoon Clabber Girl Baking Powder; combine with ½ cup whole bran cereal, 1 cup chopped nut meats, and ½ cup finely chopped dates. Beat 2 eggs until light and foamy; add 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla extract; beat thoroughly. Add dry ingredients and stir until well blended. Spread mixture evenly in a greased 11 x 7 x 1½-inch baking pan. Bake in a 350° F. (moderate) oven about 35 minutes. Cut in 2 x 1-inch bars while warm; cool. Roll each bar in confectioners sugar. Yield: 33 date bars

The "most important" thing about baking...

It's the balance of ingredients in baking powder that governs its leavening action. Only when these are scientifically balanced can you be sure of uniform action in the mixing bowl plus that final, balanced rise to light and fluffy texture in the oven.

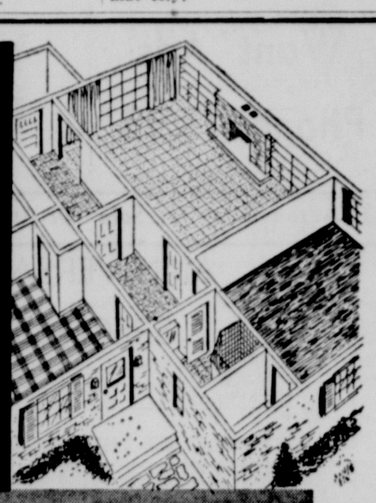

Balanced Double Action means Better Baking!

1,233 Acres Eyed As Hunting Areas

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Wildlife Council has taken option on 1,233 acres of hunting land with purchase subject to release of funds by the State Controlling Board. Total cost would be $72,359.

Here's the breakdown, with acreage: Cooper Hollow, Jackson County, 125 acres; Indian Run, Brown County, 50; Killdeer Plains, Wyandot County, 90; Rush Run, Preble County, 100; Tranquility, Adams County, 13; Grand River, Trumbull County, 104; Wolf Creek, Morgan County, 81.

In addition, three of the approved tracts are within state forests and will be purchased with funds derived from the sale of deer licenses. They are Pike Forest, 411 acres; Shade River Forest, 60, and Shawnee Forest, 200.

Society Boos Giardello Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Giardello and Washington society have met, but odds are steep that they'll never really be chummy.

Joey, the Philadelphia middleweight, made his bow before the capital's elite on the Shoreham Hotel terrace Wednesday night. Franz Szuzina, the German weightlighter who now fights for a living, appeared with Joey.

After 10 rounds of fist throwing Giardello had won his third decision over Szuzina.

The black tie and evening gown audience booed the verdict as judges Harry Volkman (99-92) and Charley Buck (97-94) voted for Giardello and referee Charley Reynolds views it as a standoff.

1,233 Acres Eyed As Hunting Areas

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Wildlife Council has taken option on 1,233 acres of hunting land with purchase subject to release of funds by the State Controlling Board. Total cost would be $72,359.

Here's the breakdown, with acreage: Cooper Hollow, Jackson County, 125 acres; Indian Run, Brown County, 50; Killdeer Plains, Wyandot County, 90; Rush Run, Preble County, 100; Tranquility, Adams County, 13; Grand River, Trumbull County, 104; Wolf Creek, Morgan County, 81.

In addition, three of the approved tracts are within state forests and will be purchased with funds derived from the sale of deer licenses. They are Pike Forest, 411 acres; Shade River Forest, 60, and Shawnee Forest, 200.

Society Boos Giardello Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Giardello and Washington society have met, but odds are steep that they'll never really be chummy.

Joey, the Philadelphia middleweight, made his bow before the capital's elite on the Shoreham Hotel terrace Wednesday night. Franz Szuzina, the German weightlighter who now fights for a living, appeared with Joey.

After 10 rounds of fist throwing Giardello had won his third decision over Szuzina.

The black tie and evening gown audience booed the verdict as judges Harry Volkman (99-92) and Charley Buck (97-94) voted for Giardello and referee Charley Reynolds views it as a standoff.

Daytonians Plug Hole in Levee

DAYTON (AP)—A hole in a levee along the rain-swollen Miami River Wednesday night threatened about 1,500 persons, but fast working volunteers and firemen plugged the break before serious damage occurred.

The break was discovered in a levee which protects the Miami Shore area just south of here. About 100 residents already had been evacuated from the low areas.

Workers quickly plugged the hole and started building the levee higher because the river was beginning to flow over the top.

Deputy Radcliff Forced Off Road On Blood Mission

A Grove City motorist ran a Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff off the road last night while the deputy was on an emergency blood run.

Lawrence E. Karn, Route 2, Grove City, was fined $25 and costs in Circleville Municipal Court for failing to yield the right of way to an emergency vehicle on an emergency run.

Deputy Dwight Radcliff reported that he was headed north on Rt. 23 enroute to the Franklin County line to pick up blood to be relayed to a Ross County car at the southern end of the county.

He said he was using his siren and flasher lights but Karn refused to allow the deputy's car to pass. When Radcliff did make a move to go around Karn's auto, he was forced to the left and had to drive into the center parkway of the four-lane highway to avoid a collision. The cruiser was not damaged.

Radcliff picked up the blood from Franklin County deputies at the county line, told them to pick up Karn when he reached the line.

Radcliff said the blood, for a woman critically ill at Chillicothe the City Hospital, arrived on time.

Dr. Hedges Will Open New Office

Dr. Robert E. Hedges, local optometrist at 157 W. Main St., will move his office Monday to 211 S. Scioto St.

Hedges, who has been in Circleville since 1940, has restored the 130-year-old Weldon property on S. Scioto St. The home was built by Attorney Lemuel Weldon's grandfather.

Adjoining Dr. Hedges' new office will be the office of Dr. H. W. Fraas, Circleville's newest dentist who also will open Monday.

The Weldon house was built during the time Circleville was built in a circle. When the circle was squared another frame home was added to the rear of the Weldon property and still remains there.

THIS landmark will have two apartments upstairs. There will be parking facilities in the rear of the offices.

Hedges, former mayor of Circleville, has two children. He recently began fitting contact lenses. Dr. Fraas is a graduate of the Ohio State University Dental School.

Vo Ag Instructor Declines Job Here

Ralph E. Young, Holgate, recently employed by the Teays Valley Board of Education as a vocational agricultural instructor for Walnut Twp. High School, Tuesday declined the assignment.

Young, 49, in a letter to Pickaway County School Superintendent George McDowell stated he was declining the assignment with mingled feelings of rejoicing and regret.

He said after his community learned of his leaving, a delegation of the Holgate adult night school farmers and parents of his students protested his resignation to the Holgate Board of Education and it resulted in a salary increase that couldn't be refused.

Young was an Amanda native and has been in the vocational agricultural field since 1931. He thanked the county school system for the courtesies extended him. He wished the board every success in filling the vacancy created by his absence.

Spartan Life May Be Asked Of Americans

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Defense Secretary Neil McElroy predicted today the United States may be forced to take drastic steps to keep ahead in the cold war even if it means a more Spartan life for the people.

Great peacetime sacrifices may, and probably will, be called for, McElroy said in a speech prepared for the Commencement Day meeting of the Harvard Alumni Assn.

"Certain it is,," he said, "that the test of our social order is the most serious we have ever faced. It is based not alone on the making of arms, but on a truly phenomenal economic and industrial growth in the Soviet Union, plus an equally prodigious development in the field of education. In all of these areas, Russia reached the position she is in today because she worked harder at it."

"Parents will have to contribute more money through taxes or contributions for the kind of educational program the country needs," he said. "I anticipate we may have to put from 50 to 100 per cent more money in the broad field of education than we are now allocating."

Dr. Robert E. Hedges, local optometrist at 157 W. Main St., will move his office Monday to 211 S. Scioto St.

Hedges, who has been in Circleville since 1940, has restored the 130-year-old Weldon property on S. Scioto St. The home was built by Attorney Lemuel Weldon's grandfather.

Adjoining Dr. Hedges' new office will be the office of Dr. H. W. Fraas, Circleville's newest dentist who also will open Monday.

The Weldon house was built during the time Circleville was built in a circle. When the circle was squared another frame home was added to the rear of the Weldon property and still remains there.

THIS landmark will have two apartments upstairs. There will be parking facilities in the rear of the offices.

Hedges, former mayor of Circleville, has two children. He recently began fitting contact lenses. Dr. Fraas is a graduate of the Ohio State University Dental School.

Vo Ag Instructor Declines Job Here

Ralph E. Young, Holgate, recently employed by the Teays Valley Board of Education as a vocational agricultural instructor for Walnut Twp. High School, Tuesday declined the assignment.

Young, 49, in a letter to Pickaway County School Superintendent George McDowell stated he was declining the assignment with mingled feelings of rejoicing and regret.

He said after his community learned of his leaving, a delegation of the Holgate adult night school farmers and parents of his students protested his resignation to the Holgate Board of Education and it resulted in a salary increase that couldn't be refused.

Young was an Amanda native and has been in the vocational agricultural field since 1931. He thanked the county school system for the courtesies extended him. He wished the board every success in filling the vacancy created by his absence.

Spartan Life May Be Asked Of Americans

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Defense Secretary Neil McElroy predicted today the United States may be forced to take drastic steps to keep ahead in the cold war even if it means a more Spartan life for the people.

Great peacetime sacrifices may, and probably will, be called for, McElroy said in a speech prepared for the Commencement Day meeting of the Harvard Alumni Assn.

"Certain it is," he said, "that the test of our social order is the most serious we have ever faced. It is based not alone on the making of arms, but on a truly phenomenal economic and industrial growth in the Soviet Union, plus an equally prodigious development in the field of education. In all of these areas, Russia reached the position she is in today because she worked harder at it."

"Parents will have to contribute more money through taxes or contributions for the kind of educational program the country needs," he said. "I anticipate we may have to put from 50 to 100 per cent more money in the broad field of education than we are now allocating."

Kansas Girl Crowned U.S. Champion Speller

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jolitta Schlehuber of Topeka, Kan., today won the national spelling bee by correctly spelling 'syllepsis."

Jolitta defeated Terry Madeira, 13, Elizabethtown, Pa., who stumbled on the word 'propylaeum."

Jolitta won $1,000, Terry $500. Stanley Schmidt, 14, of Cincinnati, was third and got $250.
